SET? BET?—NO, 'LET'; CROSSWORD PRIZE $100

Total prize for the Times' popular Crossword Puzzle contest jumps to $100 today since there was no entry with a completely correct solution to last week's puzzle, the first of a new series.

"Let" was the little word that crossed up most crossworders last week. The clue read: "A single — will probably make little difference to a tennis match." Most entries gave the answers "Set" or "Bet" but of course one set can be very important. A "let" on the other hand since it involves neither penalty nor advantage would make little difference.

Complete answer and explanation of last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on Page 33 today.

QUITS UNDEFEATED

The world's heavyweight boxing title was left vacant today when reigning champion Rocky Marciano announced his retirement. The "Brockton Blockbuster" who retires undefeated, said he was bowing to the wishes of his family. Marciano said boxing took so much of his time, he had to be introduced to his daughter every time he went home. (See sports page.)

Clouds Dim Chance For Record

Completion of the third consecutive week of rainless days and nights in the Victoria area seemed assured today, as the sun kept control despite encroachment of scattered clouds. This is the 21st day without measurable precipitation. Rainless record for the spring season, set in 1951, was 29 days.

Chances of equalling the old record, or setting a new one, dimmed slightly today with a forecast of increasing cloud to night and Saturday morning, with showers possible in the morning.

But the sun is expected to burn through the cloud cover by afternoon.

The sun shone Thursday for 13.2 hours, and the April total to date gained slightly more than two hours over the all-time sunshine record for April, also set in 1951.

This April will gain on the record year by whatever hours the sun shines during the day. One year ago today there was no sunshine.

CCF MLA William Moore of Comox will not run under a socialist banner in the next provincial election.

This was confirmed today by CCF leader Robert Strachan, who said he has been notified of Mr. Moore's decision.

His confirmation settled widespread rumors that Mr. Moore, who recently took over operation of a newspaper at Courtenay, was dissatisfied with the party's stand on many issues.

Red Visit Helpful Says Eden

World Tension Eased, PM Claims

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said tonight that the visit of Soviet officials to Britain produced results that will allow the world to "rest more securely."

Eden evaluated the 10-day visit by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev in a nationwide radio and television address a few hours after they left for home.

Before they left the Russian leaders said Eden had accepted their invitation to visit Moscow, but the date hasn't yet been fixed.

The British prime minister told his radio-TV audience his talks with the Russians had produced an "encouraging measure" of agreement on more issues than he had expected.

TRADE EXPANSION

In particular, he said Britain can expect stepped-up trade with the Soviet Union to produce a "real improvement in the export market for us."

But he added that Britain supports the West's embargo on trade in strategic goods with Russia.

Eden called the Anglo-Soviet meetings here "the beginning of a beginning."

He said "I utterly disagree" with people who say the London talks were not worthwhile. He said that "as long as I have any responsibility," such efforts at settlement would continue.

SEEK ROAD TO U.S.

The Soviet leaders, in their final press conference, asked Britain to help ease Russia's relations with the United States.

Khrushchev and Bulganin also hinted they wanted to halt arms shipments to the tense Middle East.

They said they would "welcome" a United Nations ban on Mid-East arms.

Bulganin and Khrushchev left for Portsmouth at end of their press conference to board a Soviet cruiser for home.

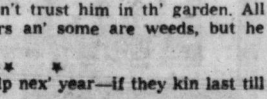

They left London almost as they arrived to the silence of curious crowds who lined the streets to the railway station.

LARRY H. McCANCE

Organizer Named for Centennial

Larry H. McCance, Toronto, has been appointed executive secretary of the B.C. Centennial Committee with headquarters in Victoria, committee chairman L. J. Wallace announced today.

There were 92 applicants for the job to co-ordinate the province's celebrations for the centenary year, 1958.

Mr. McCance has had wide experience in the field of pageant productions. In 1954 he was general manager of Toronto's Melody Fair and last year was general manager of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.'s road show which he wrote and produced.

He is due to arrive here May 15.

Mr. McCance was born and educated in Vancouver and has been connected with major radio productions with Vancouver stations, as well as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

After the war he joined radio station CJOR and eight years ago moved to Toronto.

Salary for the post is $9,000 and may be increased to $10,000 as work grows during the three-year term.

Kills 2, Suicides

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Police said two employees were shot to death at the Waterloo Spring Company Ltd. plant today by a third man who stalked through the factory about 1 p.m. and then killed himself. Dead are: Donald Huras, 26; Fred Beistein, 37, and Frank Riem, 35.

The crown described Gordon as the man who fired the two shots which killed the constable but said Carey, "in carrying out an unlawful purpose with Gordon," was equally guilty.

Gordon, Carey To Hang

Killed Policeman Is Jury's Verdict

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice A. M. Manson pronounced the death sentence twice early today as a jury convicted two men of murdering a police constable who was shot down while answering a prowler call.

Joe Gordon, 34, and James Carey, 27, were sentenced to be hanged July 10 for slaying Constable Gordon Sinclair Dec. 7 beneath the Granville street bridge on the outskirts of downtown Vancouver.

Mr. Justice Manson paced the darkened corridors of the courthouse while the jury deliberated from 8:47 p. m. Thursday until 12:06 a. m.

Gordon and Carey were convicted on separate charges. Carey faced his sentence stolidly but Gordon winked broadly at reporters after Mr. Justice Manson delivered the death judgment.

HID BABY FIRST

Carey's common-law wife was not in the courtroom at the sentencing. Early in the trial she testified that, through fear, she had hidden her baby before giving evidence.

Mrs. Carey said she was told by Jack Horton, a police officer, not to give certain testimony concerning the man named as the driver of a car which sped from the scene of the slaying.

"Jack Horton told me that if I said Bob Smith got out of the car, he would take the baby from me."

"That is all they said to me and I am not to mention about the deal he made with Bob or the deal Pete Lamont made."

CHARGES DENIED

Horton and Lamont, also a police officer, denied her charges.

Mrs. Carey said she had her baby with her in a car driven by Smith which was at the scene the night of the slaying. She said she heard shots and Gordon and Carey ran to the car. Gordon, she said, was shouting, "I shot the guy."

The crown described Gordon as the man who fired the two shots which killed the constable but said Carey, "in carrying out an unlawful purpose with Gordon," was equally guilty.

Bluntly Warns U.S. Link Key To West's Defences

MONTREAL (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson appealed to Canadians today to discard anti-United States prejudices, warning that too much criticism and suspicion of American investments and defence works in Canada may dangerously weaken the Western alliance against communism.

In a plainly-worded speech concerning relations with the U. S., Mr. Pearson said the anthem O Canada is something to sing and act on. "But it doesn't mean we have to declare war when an American soldier stands guard over his crashed plane on Canadian soil."

To this apparent reference to the U. S. Globemaster incident where an American officer pulled a revolver on a Canadian news photographer while guarding the crash-landed plane, Mr. Pearson added:

"... It is no service to good relations and friendship between our countries or to peace and security generally to whisper or insinuate that every time the Stars and Stripes flies with the Canadian flag at some Arctic base, this is a further step in the U. S. conquest of our country."

Drew's Views 'Dangerous Delusion'

The sudden flare-up of ancient fears that Canada may become the 50th state of the union may have been encouraged by easing of international tensions, but the feeling that it now is safe to relax is a "dangerous delusion," Mr. Pearson said in a 4,000-word speech to Montreal's Canadian Club.

(Mr. Pearson apparently was repeating the "50th state of the union" phrase used by Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, when expressing concern over American investment during a Hamilton, Ont., speech last month. There are only 48 states in the union.)

This feeling, if persisted in, "would weaken the unity and strength of the free nations which has itself been a main reason for the improvement which has taken place."

The growth of U. S. investment in Canada posed a real problem of control, but that was no excuse for the assertion that the economic and political domination of Canada by the U. S. is imminent, Mr. Pearson said.

"The war of 1812 was fought a long time ago, and '54-60' now is more impressive as a football signal than as a call to conflict across the border, or even as a peroration."

Canada, U.S. Co-Operation Vital

Mr. Pearson said Canada recently has been urged to declare its economic independence of the U. S. but it would comfort the "Jeremiahs who predict our new colonialism" that the U. S. is by no means economically independent of Canada.

"The fact is that the economic interdependence of our two countries and indeed of most important trading countries is both inevitable and beneficial."

Canadian per capita investment in the U. S. was almost twice that of American investment in Canada.

Mr. Pearson said he has too much faith in the national pride and patriotism of Canadians and in the common sense of Americans to believe that American investments will make a "banana republic" out of Canada.

Canadian savings did not equal her investment needs. Yet net imports of U. S. capital in 1955 amounted only to about $600,000, compared to the record $6,200,000,000 over-all Canadian investment program.

"Unless we wish to slow down or also the pattern of our development; or unless we save and invest more ourselves, especially in speculative developments — as I hope we will do — this capital investment by our neighbor, far from being unnecessary and dangerous, is of essential importance."

"Let us be neither defeatist nor demagogic in these matters. When the growing need in the free

MUST CONTINUE TO EXPORT

There had been suggestions Canada retain more of her raw materials to turn into finished goods, but export controls on raw materials could do Canada more harm than good. At this stage, Canada should continue to export large quantities of raw materials as essential for employment and prosperity while increasing manufacturing as new markets develop.

Canada's economic structure was strong but it could not have been made so without U. S. venture capital and technical knowledge. "The destiny of the Canadian nation will not be blocked because Canada co-operates closely with her neighbor in continental defence and because U. S. corporations operating under Canadian law, subject to Canadian policies and having much like Canadian corporations, are playing an important part in our development."

The remarks were contained in the text of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

Decision Tuesday
In Fraser Valley
Gas Controversy

Judgment in the appeal of three municipalities against a decision of the Public Utilities Commission authorizing the B.C. Electric Co. to distribute natural gas in the Lower Fraser Valley, is expected to be handed down by the British Columbia Court of Appeal next Tuesday.

The court reserved judgment after hearing the arguments of the Corporation of Surrey, Township of Chilliwack and the City of Chilliwack, claiming that the PUC had not the authority to grant gas distribution rights to the B.C. Electric without first obtaining their consent.

The court composed by Justice C. H. O'Halloran, H. I. Bird and J. M. Coady informed the litigants it hoped to render judgment next Tuesday.

Respondent in the appeal was the B.C. Electric, which claimed the Public Utilities Act enabled the PUC to grant a certificate of conveyance to the company without obtaining consent of the municipalities.

EDEN-KHRUSHCHEV TALKS

Britain Spurns
Red Trade Bait

LONDON (UP)—Britain and Russia pledged last night to work for peace in the Middle East and for an easing of East-West tensions.

The five-point communiqué left unsettled the major cold war issues.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev coupled their 2,000-word statement, signed with Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, with an offer to increase trade with dollar hungry Britain by as much as $2.8 billion over the next five years.

The offer hinged on an easing of export restrictions on strategic goods.

Britain shied from the trade bait and Khrushchev was so disappointed that he accused the British of being mainly herring-sellers.

It was the climax to a series of disagreements that left diplomats convinced that the cold war is far from over.

SOME RESULTS

Series of eight formal "little summit" talks and a number of informal conferences produced these results:

1. A pledge that Britain and Russia would do their utmost to maintain peace in the Middle East.

2. An agreement that both nations will work toward an end to the world arms race and seek the ultimate goal of a ban on nuclear weapons.

3. A promise to continue efforts through the United Nations disarmament subcommittee to reduce and control armed forces, beginning with those of the big five.

4. A program to try to increase Anglo-Soviet trade.

5. An announcement of plans for increased cultural and other contacts between Britain and the Soviet Union.

UN FRAMEWORK

Both nations agreed that efforts at easing world tension should take place within the framework of the United Nations to the end that disarmament eventually would become a fact and "thus free the peoples of the world."

The text of the joint communiqué was signed by Eden and the two Soviet leaders after the Russians returned to London from a 5½-hour noisy tour of Edinburgh during which students serenaded them with "Poor Stalin lies over the ocean, please bring back my Stalin to me."

On the Mid-East, the statement said that both nations agreed it is their "firm intention" to maintain peace in the Arab-Israeli dispute.

NEW YORK (AP)—It was quite a let down Thursday for Stanley Tyrrell when he stepped into an 11th floor elevator shaft and found the car wasn't there.

But Tyrrell, 61-year-old elevator mechanic, managed to grab a cable and slide down it to the main floor.

At a hospital, where he was recuperating from burns of the hand, leg and thigh and back injuries, his condition was described as "very favorable."

"I thought the elevator was wanted to work on was on that floor," he explained.

Kitimat-Terrace Highway Work
Starts This Year Says Bennett

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—Premier Bennett told the Chamber of Commerce here Thursday night that the Kitimat-Terrace highway will be under full construction this year.

The 40-mile link, when completed, will be the first road into this new community, the smelter site of the Aluminum Co. of Canada at the head of Douglas Channel.

Terrace is situated on the northern trans-provincial highway. It now is connected with Kitimat to the south by a rail line, completed more than a year ago by the CNR.

Mr. Bennett said the government would also spend $2,558,238 on other road work in the Skeena riding, which includes the port city of Prince Rupert.

He told a packed schoolhouse meeting later that the government was interested in seeing more northern roads black-topped. He spoke of a "grand circle tour" for tourists leading from the lower mainland, 480 miles north to Prince

George, then 480 miles west to either Kitimat or Prince Rupert and completing the circle by ferry link to Vancouver Island and back to the mainland.

Mr. Bennett also promised he would "cut through any red tape holding up progress of financing by the province" on the new hospital planned for construction here this year.

And he said a provincial building was being planned for Kitimat with negotiations currently under way with Alcan for a site in city centre.

Millionth Postwar House Due This Year

(From Times News Services)

Canada will complete its millionth postwar home this year, says Works Minister Winters.

But A. M. Nicholson (CCF, Mackenzie) says Canada stands a low eighth among world countries for rate of home-building since the war. The federal government should use its resources to improve "shocking" housing conditions existing in every part of the country.

They spoke Thursday in a Commons debate on housing that preceded unanimous approval of the principle of a government bill to make several changes in the National Housing Act.

The two main amendments are a broadening of NHA clearance arrangements and a boost in the ceiling of loans which the government will guarantee for home improvements.

Mr. Winters, in a review of the housing situation, said that in 10 years Canada has accomplished a huge task in housing its growing population and reducing pressure on living space.

"From one end of the country to the other, every city and town has been transformed by the growth of new suburbs on their fringes."

He also said his department is setting up an advisory committee of citizens from across Canada to seek ways of building cheaper and better homes. He did not elaborate.

Mr. Nicholson said that because of income requirements for NHA home-purchase loans, 83 per cent of the population can't qualify for loans.

The CCF member said these people have no chance of ever owning their own home unless the NHA is changed drastically.

Better Housing for Seniors Asked

George Hahn (SC, New Westminster) said Canada has thousands of homes housing senior citizens that are "not habitable" in the true sense of the word. Many were "firetraps" and "virtual hovels." Action should be taken to provide elderly persons with proper accommodation.

Owen L. Jones (CCF, Okanagan Boundary) and H. A. Bryson (CCF, Humboldt-Melfort) also urged steps to provide better housing for older citizens.

Mr. Jones, quoting communications he had received from the Oliver and District Senior Citizens Society and from the reeve of Summerland, B.C., requested government action to help provide accommodation for senior citizens and for bachelors, spinsters and other single persons.

He asked that the act be changed to permit a one-third loan contribution by the federal government to a senior citizens home at Oliver. The community was raising one-third and the province was contributing a similar amount.

For Summerland he urged the municipality be permitted to borrow federal funds at about 2 per cent interest to help provide water and other services for land assembly there.

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker said Thursday the Saskatchewan government in 1953 reduced the membership of the province's Court of Queen's Bench from seven to six to prevent a Liberal being appointed to the court.

He said in the Commons that the Saskatchewan CCF government took the step "with apparently ulterior motives in view."

The Prince Albert Progressive Conservative spoke on a resolution preceding a bill to increase the number of Supreme Court judges in British Columbia from nine to 11 and the number of Quebec Supreme Court judges from 47 to 51. The bill was introduced and received first reading.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Saskatchewan Court of Queen's Bench still has seven members. However if one were to retire or die the strength of the court would be fixed at six.

"... The government of Saskatchewan thought in 1953 that if one of the present judges was to retire or die a certain person—now a member of this House—might be appointed as a judge."

(Later, outside the House, Mr. Diefenbaker said the Liberal he referred to was Walter Tucker, member for the Saskatchewan riding of Rosthern.)

Free Health Service for Immigrants

Claire Gillis maintained Thursday that the federal and provincial governments provide national health insurance for immigrants during their first year in Canada.

In the Commons estimates committee, the CCF member for Cape Breton South pointed to an appropriation for $155,000 as the federal share of providing medical care for immigrants after they have found jobs but fallen sick.

A. H. Brown, deputy labor minister, said some 1,800 immigrants received such help last year, 185 of them because they had contracted tuberculosis.

Mr. Gillis said he does not object to the government providing medical aid for immigrants but Canadian workers did not get any such help when they lost their jobs.

"One of our workers out of a job can die in the street before the federal or provincial governments will pay his medical bills," he said.

"This is national health insurance for immigrants." Labor department officials testifying before the committee appeared stunned for a moment at this declaration and then agreed that, in effect, Mr. Gillis was right.

Walter Tucker (L-Rosthern), committee chairman, asked whether the money spent on medical care for immigrants was not repaid.

Labor Body Respects Power Says President

Vast Size of CLC Not to Produce Irresponsibilities—Jodoin

TORONTO (CP)—The 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress will not abuse its power, president Claude Jodoin said today.

The 42-year-old Montrealer, just confirmed as first head of Canada's largest union body for two years, said the CLC is well aware of the responsibilities that go with its strength.

Mr. Jodoin addressed 1,600 delegates at the founding convention of the CLC, forged from an amalgamation of his Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor. The former president of the TLC was making his presidential address to the enlarged congress.

A text of the speech was released to the press before delivery. "Much has been said of the size of our organization and the significance of our new congress," he said. "We are well aware of our responsibilities, and there will be no abuse of the power which comes from the welding together of more than 1,000,000 men and women."

"We recognize that our first responsibility is to our membership and, in that respect, the needs and desires of the working people of Canada are no different from those of other workers. We hope to use our position for the benefit of all."

Mr. Jodoin spoke two days after Prime Minister St. Laurent, addressing the convention, suggested the CLC might be a tempering influence on big unions in the use of their economic strength.

The prime minister's statement at the time was interpreted by rail union officers as applying to them in their current battle with the railways over more than $100,000,000 a year in wage and fringe benefits.

It has been suggested the federal cabinet might push the railways and unions—as it did in 1954—into some form of arbitration.

"MATTER OF PRINCIPLE"

Mr. Jodoin said there has recently been speculation on the possibility of compulsory arbitration.

"Freedom to bargain collectively in a normal manner," he said, "is essential to the democracy of which we are so justifiably proud."

"Those who face the threat of losing this right may be assured that the Canadian Labor Congress stands solidly behind them. This is a matter of principle."

"We are completely opposed to compulsory arbitration, and we will use every effort at our command to prevent anyone being deprived of the right to strike."

When Beer Explodes

THE RECENT STUDIES conducted by the Manitoba Legislature provide a classic definition of how a government liquor business should not be managed. They also suggest, in some important respects, how such a business should be managed. It is to be hoped (though the hope is slim) that the Government of British Columbia has observed the sorry lessons learned in Manitoba and will apply them here.

After weeks of investigation the Manitoba legislators have discovered a series of extraordinary facts which may or may not exist in other provinces.

The Manitoba Government granted large increases in the price paid to the brewers for beer without considering the brewers' existing profits.

Between 1949 and 1954 the cost of producing beer in Manitoba rose from $1.11 per gallon to $1.27, an increase of 16 cents.

The Government increased its payments to the brewers by 26 cents in the case of draught beer and 30 cents in the case of bottled beer.

Some of this increase went to the Federal Government in sales taxes, leaving the brewers with increased revenues of 23 cents a gallon.

As The Winnipeg Free Press calculates these figures, the brewers' profit in 1954 was 7 cents a gallon greater than in 1949. This was an increase of 23 per cent. At the same time the output of the breweries increased by 11 per cent. The brewers' profits therefore rose in total by 36 per cent, from $2,826,677 to $3,852,607.

The evident public anger against the Manitoba Government, after these revelations, is a matter entirely for the people of Manitoba. But what prices are the Governments of British Columbia and other provinces paying for beer today? Are these prices related to the brewers' current profits? Are they reasonable prices? And how are they fixed? These questions are the business of the other provinces.

In British Columbia the Government refuses to say what it pays the brewers. The public must buy beer at the secret prices paid by the government plus the profit the Government itself collects when beer is retailed in its stores or in licensed premises, without asking any questions. All other aspects of the Government's business are public. All its expenditures are listed in the public accounts. But the price of beer is a secret between the Government and the brewers.

Prices for other kinds of merchandise are fixed by competition. If, for example, a contractor wishes to build a road he must tender on the contract. If he wishes to sell his product to the Government he must submit prices in competition with other business men.

Beer prices are not set by this kind of competition, however, since brewing is a monopoly carefully maintained as such by the state, which permits no new breweries to enter the business.

The Government itself fixes beer prices as it pleases. They may be too high, or too low or exactly right, but the public has no way of learning what they are or how they are fixed. And when such facts are divulged in Manitoba a political explosion follows.

The British Columbia Government may well feel that the campaign fund contributions of the brewers to political parties are not public business, though they were fully revealed in Manitoba and turned out to be small. The Government surely cannot argue that the taxpayers' money paid to the brewers for beer or the brewers' profits are not the public's business.

As the Free Press says, the brewers of Manitoba made a bargain with the Government in 1950 which was just too good for their long-term interests, too good to stick. When Mr. John Bracken's royal commission on liquor looked into these arrangements and was amazed by them, they had to be altered, downward. Now that the Legislature has looked further into them they will have to be altered again.

Already the two largest Manitoba breweries have announced that they are ending the marketing agreement between them. The public of British Columbia does not know what kind of marketing agreement, if any, exists among the brewers here. It knows nothing, in fact, about a business supported entirely by its own money, paid through the government.

The Government surely must realize by now, after Manitoba's unhappy experience, that the existing secrecy not only involves the public's money but can involve any government in very serious political consequences.

The Bennett Government is not responsible for the present system. It may not have altered the beer prices paid by its predecessors. But it has no right to hide the facts.

Went to School with Him

VIRTUALLY EVERYONE WHO has studied the problem of integrating the Indian into full Canadian citizenship comes up with the view that patience and education will accomplish that objective.

The education cited is not limited only to classroom instruction. But as Indian children share school teaching and accommodation with whites, the chances of young natives moving more naturally into the broader national environment is increased.

For this reason statistics set out in the annual report of the provincial advisory committee on Indian affairs in B.C. are particularly interesting.

"Since the 'Public Schools Act' was amended in 1949 to make Provincial school education available to Indian children, by agreement with local school boards, a growing number is attending regular public schools," says the report. "This is especially true at the secondary school level, where Indian children are taking advantage of facilities provided.

The approximate figures for such attendance during 1955 are: elementary 1,100, and secondary 550."

"British Columbia," the report continues, "leads all other provinces in the number of Indian children being educated in its public schools, training-schools, and the University."

The advantages to be derived from this mingling of native students with other Canadians is obvious. One group is in a position to learn by experience the strengths and weaknesses of the other, to follow similar avenues to educational goals and to acquire a better understanding of one another.

It can be argued, of course, that the democratic equality of a racial minority in school tends to vanish when and if members of the minority have themselves off once they have graduated. That can happen. At the same time it need not happen and the joint experiences of school can be a major influence in preventing a form of tacit segregation.

Awaiting a Spark

TWO FACTORS HAVE CREATED an unusually dangerous fire condition in the forests. Three weeks with virtually no rain have left them dry and combustible. And the late season has failed to produce the normal volume of new green growth which acts as an inhibitor.

A match, a lighted cigarette or cigar tossed from a car to the roadside is as dangerous today as it customarily is in summer.

Warnings have gone out from the B.C. Forest Service that the hazard is high. Dead grass and bracken are tinder stacked beside the highway and in the woods.

Any Better Than Nothing?

IN AUSTRALIA, THE UNITED Press reports, people are buying radio-gramophone consoles with gapping holes in them for the installation of television when TV is established in that country.

This is an abnormal condition so early in the year. It calls for particular caution on the part of anyone near or in the bush. Officially the fire season—when permits are required for any burning in locations other than municipalities—does not open until May 1. But if fires are considered necessary they should be watched as carefully now as they would be in full summer.

Forest Service officials, repeating their plea to the public to keep British Columbia green, point out that fires seldom start unless people start them.

tage filmed TV shows in anticipation of programs they will have to provide.

No one questions the value of some TV features. On the other hand, if the type of program indicated in film purchases is to set a standard, an important question arises: What will they have better than what they've got now?

'I Tell You I Smell Something Burning'

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

MONTHS ago I promised to give you a whole batch of quotations from the Welsh novelist Gwyn Thomas. Gwyn Thomas, who is going strong but whose novels are so strangely unobtainable in Canada. If the following quotations can help even a little to create a demand for Gwyn Thomas, this will be a happier springtime for me. Here are a very few items taken from a novel called "Now Lead Us Home." Let's see... well, there was a pensive character named Mark who kept explaining people's minds, and when he explained why the rich folk up in the castle went so regularly off their hinges, another chap said "Now, look, Mark, what a man does with his own hinge is his own business. Why don't you take some fruit salts and read thinner books?"

Brock

ANOTHER villager has his own theory about the rich eccentric up in the castle, who seems none too solid on his mental pins. He says "He's had a long, hard life. I don't know much about making a lot of money; but it wouldn't surprise me if the rub of coins in the brain doesn't set up a kind of heat which melts the wits shapeless."

The man in the castle has had a permanent mistress for a long time, besides temporary ones. He and the permanent one are feuding, and a villager says, "Their great love has gone a bit mouldy. From what I hear it's been going on for about thirty years, and that's older for love than it is for a horse."

Of a hopelessly dim-witted citizen named Harris Lambert, another citizen says "Psychologically, I would say Harris Lambert has reached rock-bottom, and he got there head-first."

THERE is an embittered girl named Bonnie. When anyone gets pleasure from anything, Bonnie feels she has somehow got tickets for the wrong show. Her favorite hobby is bullying her uncle, as a revenge on her dead father who neglected her as a child. One of the men says to the uncle, "Because your brother neglected her a bit as a kid, because you didn't bring her up on velvet, she holds you over the fire and baptises you in your own grave. Who the hell are kids, to think that fathers are to be nailed to the cross of their wants, with the mothers making the nails from the iron melancholy of their fathers' hearts?"

THERE is a new religious sect in that part of Wales. One of the non-adherents says it is a mixture of Trappism, Buddhism and Creffism, and presents the iciest front to life since the glaciers receded.

There is a good deal of strangely invigorating pessimism in the book, as in all the Gwyn Thomas books. If pessimism doesn't invigorate you, send it back... it's a phoney. Here is a nice sample of the real stuff: one of the characters says that life isn't very much at all, it is just a lot of noise made by not very conscious people, so that you could call it "an enlarged form of snoring."

AND now let me quote you a thing or two from another novel of his, "The World Cannot Hear You." A gloomy chap called Ewart Pugh says he would very much enjoy a nice lecture on the Lake Poets. "We would like Mrs. Strang to tell us about the Lake Poets. We'd like to hear how such intelligent elements managed to stay on the lakeside dry and undrowned with so many good urges to jump in."

There was an ex-teacher whose teaching had broken his health, "and even now when you spoke to him in the street his eyes would suddenly take on the look of marbles, and he would laugh in a high frantic key, showing the havoc the pupils had played with his wits. One always caught from within his skull a whiff of that cocktail of tedium and terror which is shaken up inside those who are paid for trying to make the young appear less stupid."

AND then there was the man who sent a comprehensive telegram to the colored peoples of the world, thanking them for being colored because it made him feel so good to be white. And the one who said "We were helpless in a way that would really surprise Nature, if she ever got the full facts on obscure cases such as ours. Which, by the way, is a nice illustration of the way the word 'really' can strengthen a sentence, as well as weaken it."

And the man who said "This town needs toning up with the acceptance of some higher law. And it wouldn't need to be more than a few inches off the floor to effect a big and helpful change in some of these people." And the choir whose voices "had a turn for elegy that was the best thing in its way since the melancholia of the Celts was officially declared open." And the man whose face was "a ball of love."

AND the plotter who was "riding the crest of some Machiavellian wave which would amount to life with some very queer brands of foam before it was finished." And the man who was always sending away for booklets on how to succeed and how to grow tall, and so on, and who thought that somewhere there was lying about for every man the one bit of knowledge, in a booklet, that would give him power and wealth. So firmly did he believe, he even sent away for a booklet on how to grow shorter, in case the one on growing taller worked only too well.

And the one who felt that instead of the pieces of life falling into place, they fall straight on your head. Well, I hope some of the Gwyn Thomas books fall into your living-room... in Canada, you'll have to yell pretty loud for them. They're worth it.

Muffle Motorcycles

May I be permitted to add one more comment in reply to the letter written by R. C. Akins re my criticism of the excessive speed and noise created by motorcycles.

I gather a reply in detail is pointless, but the fact remains motorcycles seem to have unlimited privilege to exceed the speed limits and create a roaring noise in doing so. R. C. Akins admits the accusation and surely the suppression by the officers of the club of which he speaks is quite ineffective and should be undertaken by the traffic department.

As an instance of this abuse: Monday night at 2.30 a.m., two boys roared by Douglas Street and must have circled around the park, because they repeated the same procedure a few minutes later. This is unpleasant to a person in good health, but to a sick, nervous person it is particularly disturbing.

The so-called wonderfully unselfish, charitable work performed by the motorcyclists might be classed as a vehicle for juvenile exhibitionism, against which I have however no criticism so long as they have consideration for the feelings of others and control the noise. My contention still stands: "Motorcycles should be muffled."

As a Jew Dr. Einstein considered it a high honor to permit his statue to be placed among "The Saints" at Riverside Church, New York City.

In No Way Connected

The membership of the Victoria City Police Federal Union Local No. 251, and the membership of the Victoria City Police Mutual Benefit Association, would like to bring to the attention of the public and the merchants in particular the following information.

At the present time there is a booklet being printed and is published by Admark Ltd., 710 Johnson St., called: Victoria City Police Official Traffic Guide. This booklet deals with different subjects relating to traffic.

As police officers it is felt that information of this nature is extremely worthwhile to the public, as it may well go towards the saving and preservation of a human life, which is of paramount importance, and as police officers we would be remiss in our duties if we thought otherwise.

Certain aspects of this publication, however, we consider wholly undesirable. The booklet is crammed full of advertising which has been solicited from various merchants in the town. The name of the Victoria City Police is very prominently displayed throughout the booklet from title forward. The receipt given for an advertisement payment carries the words "Victoria Police" in large block capitals and the remaining words in lighter and smaller type "Official Traffic Guide" Published for the Victoria City Police Department.

A natural inference the public might draw from reading the booklet is that the Victoria City Police are deriving some monetary benefit from the sale of advertising in the booklet and also that the members of the Association and the Union are in some manner sponsoring the sale of advertising. Neither of these inferences is true.

We as police officers do not think that the name of the Victoria City Police should be associated with a commercial venture of this nature.

The Victoria City Police Federal Union Local No. 251 and the Victoria City Police Mutual Benefit Association are in no way whatsoever connected with this publication.

Advises Coming to Terms

HERE in Cairo there are good reasons to suspect that a sort of political H-bomb is concealed in Moscow's pious declaration of support for a United Nations solution of the Arab-Israeli conflict. In brief, it looks as though the Kremlin were about to come out, flat-footed, for the internationalization of Jerusalem, for a return to the much narrower frontiers for Israel originally proposed by the United Nations, and in general for a forcible reposition of the first United Nations settlement of the Palestine problem that was abrogated by the Israeli victory on the battlefield.

Alsop

In these last days, Prime Minister Gamal Nasser has told this reporter that this enormous surgical operation on present day Israel was the only way out that he could see. The Secretary General of the Arab League, Dr. Abdel Khalek Hassouna has said the same thing, adding that if the surgical operation were not performed now, the total extermination of the patient would soon become the minimum demand.

As already stated in this space, the Kremlin has for months been offering the Arab nationalist leaders a blank check for any kind of support they want.

Wholly Unprepared

Put the foregoing facts together, and it is obvious that the kind of Soviet move above-outlined is all too probable. What will then follow will of course depend on the reaction of the Israeli government and the Western policy makers to this new challenge for which they are wholly unprepared.

But it is hard to see any outcome except a naked clash between the Western allies and the strong force of the new Arab nationalism powerfully supported by the Soviet Union.

Maybe, therefore, it is already too late to talk about how to avoid this kind of clash, which can easily produce a catastrophe for the free world far worse than the loss of China. If it is in fact too late, it will not be surprising.

For years United States Middle Eastern policy has been nothing but dithering, occasionally punctuated by the dispatch of diplomatic love notes lauding the charms of peace.

The dithering appropriately culminated in the two worst diplomatic follies committed by the United States and Britain in the past quarter century—the hurried, ridiculous mission of Assistant Secretary of State George Allen to Cairo, to pipe an impotent command that the Egyptian government must not buy Soviet arms, and the appalling journey of Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, to force Jordan into the Baghdad Pact.

But if the opportunity has not been altogether lost, the dithering must certainly end. And deciding must certainly begin without further delay.

What has to be decided is whether to fight the new Arab nationalism all-out as the Israelis and a growing number of British policy makers now hope we shall do, or whether to try our best to come to terms with and even make friends with this redoubtable new political force.

From every standpoint, coming to terms is better than fighting the new Arab nationalism, provided the Egyptian and other Arab leaders have not already gone too far in the direction of a Soviet alliance. Coming to terms with the new Arab nationalism means, in effect, making a deal with Prime Minister Nasser.

Minimum Requirements

The minimum requirements for such a deal are pretty obvious. The Western powers have only two vital interests in the Middle East. There is the moral responsibility to prevent the destruction of Israel. And there is the imperative strategic necessity to conserve the Middle Eastern oil sources that provide the life blood of Britain and every other leading Western ally except the United States.

Britain can see no way to protect the vital oil except by maintaining her traditional non-colonial positions in the Middle East. Britain is inclined to fight Prime Minister Nasser because he is attacking those non-colonial positions.

A change in British policy cannot possibly be secured without a solemn American guarantee to Britain that we shall prevent any interruption of the oil flow.

Oil and Israel

If Britain then abandoned her present non-colonial way of doing business in this area, the United States and Britain could offer Prime Minister Nasser full Western backing for Arab nationalist aspirations with the two necessary conditions as to the oil and Israel.

Prime Minister Nasser plainly fears the loss of independence that he would surely suffer if he and the other Arab states were left in solitary isolation with the giant power of the Soviet Union. He most emphatically does not want a final break with the West.

Although he is immeasurably stronger now than he was six months ago, he is still alarmed by the thought of the resolute, united opposition of the United States and Britain.

Hence coming to terms with Nasser, which would have been easy until recently, may still be possible though difficult even today. If it can be done it is the safest way out of the ugly situation into which we have so complacently drifted.

MARKED for READING SOLAR ENERGY

One of the principal characteristics of the sun, and, indeed, for us by far its most important characteristic, is that day after day it produces, with less than one per cent variation, the same amount of light and heat. As far as we can tell, this has been going on for several thousand millions of years. Upon this constant outpouring of heat, amounting to the production of ten horse-power for every square centimetre of the sun's surface, depend the maintenance of all forms of life on the earth and most of our means for obtaining mechanical power.

—Dr. Patrick Wayman, astronomer at the British Royal Observatory.

Co-Existence With a Robin

WE haven't signed a contract to formalize the deal, but I believe I've come to terms with the tough robin who has pre-empted our vegetable plot.

If I keep the ground dug and soft enough with frequent watering so he can pull out worms without trouble, he seems ready to leave my green peas alone.

I've talked the thing over with him, and though it's a pretty one-sided discussion, he indicates, by his various silences, that maybe we can co-exist.

My argument goes something like this:

"Look, old boy, I'm a bird-lover, see? I don't want to hurt you in any way and I recognize your right to an honest living. Beyond that, I'll make it a little easier for you by keeping the earth damp and reasonably loose. But we ought to understand a few basic facts right from the start. I pay taxes on this lot. I paid for the seed that's planted in it. My labor went into the project. It's reasonable, I think, for me to expect some return.

"As I say, I'm fond of birds. But if you start rooting up those peas, or snipping off the green shoots sprouting from them, look out. You see that pile of stones? They're what I picked out while I was digging and weeding. They're fairly useless to me. But if you start nibbling away, they'll be coming at you so fast you'll think their king-size buckshot."

HE'S NOT FRIGHTENED

The robin doesn't scare worth a hoot. He looks at me cynically. If he could sneer, he would. And I can see what's passing through that bird-brain of his. If he could talk, he'd answer this way:

"Okay, so you like birds. Why shouldn't you? Within limits I like humans—so long as they keep the garden dug and encourage worms to come to the top. I'm a meat-eater. Given a choice, I wouldn't spit on your peas. But if it comes to a point where I have to go vegetarian, I'll take the best that I can get. And those peas look succulent, if a bird can't get his meat.

"Now about this business of taxes, payment for seed and your labor. Don't ever think that you own a lot just because you pay taxes. You don't. You're only a trustee enjoying temporary use. Birds were picking worms out of this dirt long before you started shoveling it around, and birds will be picking worms out of this dirt long after you're gone.

"So you paid for the seed. We birds weren't kicking about the growth that was here before. There used to be a right smart thicket of wild roses and snowberries here before you rooted them out. If you want to replace them with green peas, that's your business. They'll do as a substitute if we need them.

"Don't be so all-fired possessive. In the great infinite, nobody owns anything. Humans only think they do. And did it ever strike you that we birds pay for our keep? Only two weeks ago I ate an earwig. You'll have to make your own arrangements about the slugs.

AIMLESS

"As far as firing a pile of rocks at me—that's just for laughs. When it comes to pitching, you couldn't be a spare in the Little League. Try heaving them at me sometime. If I don't die giggling, I'll watch what the cruelty to animals people do to you. You'll have lumps on the head, not me."

"Also, did you ever think of this: If I picked out your seed peas—and that's no admission of intent—I'd be doing you a kindness. You wouldn't have to stake them. You wouldn't have to weed them. You wouldn't have to pick them and you wouldn't have to water them.

"You'd be money in pocket buying them in cans. What are you trying to do, anyhow? Put the grocer out of business? But don't worry. Even if these poor, anemic sprouts actually live to yield pods, there won't be a big enough harvest to justify the purchase of a ham bone for soup."

"It's a bit nettling, to imagine a robin laughing at your garden efforts. It's enough to make you tell him a horticultural assured you that clay was good for peas and that you have pretty fair expectations of a decent crop.

But telling the robin wouldn't do any good. He'd just smirk and reply: "Fine. You go ahead and weed your plants, and keep 'em watered. That softens the soil for worms."

That's the way we appear to have come to terms. Co-existence. It's wonderful. I work for him and everything'll be fine.

Thetis Lake Clean Up Under Way

City Won't Wait For B.C. Action

City council Thursday voted to prepare Thetis Lake Park for summer crowds despite earlier hopes that the B.C. government would take over the area.

A special vote of $500 was passed for repair of foot bridges and clean-up of beaches.

The park was offered to the province last fall but no definite word has been received that it will be accepted and developed.

"Something should be done... we know in our hearts the government intends to do nothing about it," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

He reminded council of earlier findings that by logging back areas of the park which are inaccessible to the public, "it can be self-supporting."

Government authorities were recently quoted as saying Thetis Lake development should be referred to the soon-to-be-formed Capital District Improvement Commission. However, the new district body is expected to be busy with planning only this year.

Council approved naming of the mayor and Ald. Arthur Dowell as representatives to the commission.

Council finally dispensed with the question of adopting permanent bicycle licences. It approved a recommendation of police chief John Blackstock that the system remain on an annual renewal basis, with Ald. M. H. Mooney dissenting.

Council released David Armstrong, CKDA-TV owner from agreement to buy four lots on Smith Hill for a studio site. Mr. Armstrong withdrew his application for rezoning of the lots in the face of complaints from residents there and will now seek a new site.

Council was advised by senior and junior chambers of commerce that they favored early action to obtain a six-day store week here. Independent Merchants' Co-operative Association said they didn't. All three groups will be advising the city's hands are tied pending new provincial legislation.

The mayor will name delegates to a convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at Penticton, October 3 to 5.

HEAVENLY DISPLAY

'Color Spectacular' By Northern Lights

Against a curtain of glimmering star constellations, the sky Thursday night hung out its northern lights of pink, blue, green and red, providing Victorians with one of the most colorful heavenly displays seen here in years.

For over three hours the bright streamers of vivid color flashed and rippled across the sky, changing in form and in hue and outshining the stars in their brilliance.

Dominion observatory officials said the polar lights were the brightest seen here in many years.

"Northern lights haven't been seen here for at least five years because the sunspot cycle has been at a minimum," he said. "It is now reaching a maximum peak, and brilliant aurora borealis should be seen for the next year or so."

He could not predict if the sky would provide a "repeat performance" of its polar light display this evening. This would depend on atmospheric conditions, he said.

The northern lights were seen Thursday night between 8:50 and 10:30 p.m.

Mars is the only member of the solar system whose entire surface can be scanned by astronomers.

5 Victoria Jaycees Round-World Envoys

A five-member group of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce is doing as much as any other similar quintette in the world to further international goodwill relations.

They are all navy men as well as Jaycees.

Early this year, for example, the five visited junior chambers in Tokyo and Yokohama for seven days, attending the national convention in the former.

In appreciation of their visit to Japan, national Jaycee president Tai Morishita wrote a congratulatory note to Canadian Jaycee president Ross Smythe, Montreal.

But Victoria's five roving ambassadors haven't stopped there. Wherever they go, they now distribute a framed memento of Victoria to the local junior chamber group. This has happened in England, the United States, Hawaii, British West Indies and, of course, Japan.

The travelling five comprise L. V. Smith, Robert Jupp, Dave Marsh, Art Goodman and Roy Erdridge.

MODEST GROOM CHANGES NAME TO PLEASE BRIDE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A bridegroom-to-be went to court Thursday to change his name so his fiancée won't have to change hers.

Lloyd A. Peterson, 55, a high school teacher, told Judge John J. Ford he soon will marry Lt.-Col. Sylvia M. Evans, who until her recent retirement was one of the top-ranking officers in the United States Army Nurse Corps.

He said that she is so well known as Col. Evans that he decided his name should be the one to be changed. Judge Ford granted Peterson's petition and he left the court as Lloyd A. Evans.

"It simply seemed more practical," he commented.

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

Variety in Color Enlivens Garden

A gardener last spring commented to me that she was tired of all the yellow in the garden.

Looking around her garden at the time, it was noticeably all yellow—the last of the yellow daffs, the first of the yellow tulips, yellow alyssum, yellow doricum (the early daisy-like perennial) and yellow cowslips.

Trying desperately to recall some of the color in our own garden at the time, all I could think of was the colorful Anemone coronaria (poppy anemone) which adds the needed brilliance in spring.

Later, I made a few notes of the earliest flowering perennials which will aid in the change-over of the spring garden.

8 Soviet Christians To Visit U.S. in June

NEW YORK (UPI)—Eight Russian Christian leaders will visit the United States in June for talks with western Protestant leaders in the first mission of its kind, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches, said today.

The Russian delegation is expected to arrive for its 10-day visit on June 2, Blake said.

ONE EXPLANATION

Some Unwed Mothers Just Defy Parents

Some of the 118 unwed mothers referred to Family and Children's Service last year in Victoria became pregnant as an act of defiance against parents and the community, Family and Children's Service director, David Woodworth said Thursday night.

He told the annual meeting of the FCS that many youngsters appear to be "swept up in a group where it is fashionable to live dangerously."

President R. R. Wilde said the organization plans to investigate establishment of a separate home where teenagers can be given care and direction. He said with help of municipal councils he expected an increase in the number of qualified social workers who could work with adolescents and their parents.

Mr. Woodworth felt the FCS must put greater stress on publicizing need for adoptive parents for children beyond the baby stage, children of minority racial and religious groups and youngsters with physical or mental handicaps.

The following were named as directors: B. Tingley, J. H. Wade, Mrs. Olive Tomlin, Harry Newton, J. A. Baker, R. L. Green, Col. R. B. Longridge, Dr. E. L. McNiven, A. deB. McPhillips, W. D. Osborn, G. C. Parrott, R. R. Smeal and R. R. Wilde.

700 Items Off Shipment Bans To Red Nations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. government Thursday eased restrictions on shipments of many items—all described as peaceful—to Russia and the Soviet satellites in Europe.

The list made public by commerce secretary Sinclair Weeks includes about 700 non-strategic items in 57 commodity groups.

The simplification of export controls affecting the list means U.S. exporters can ship these goods to the European Soviet nations under general licence. It cuts red tape for American businessmen by eliminating the requirement that they obtain individual licences to ship these specific types of goods.

Weeks' announcement said "All of the goods included on the new roster are of the type that would be approved for export under existing licensing policy." It emphasized that the "procedure in no way reflects a change in the policy of banning strategic goods to the Soviet bloc."

Weeks stressed that the ban on strategic exports which might be used in a war economy still is in effect and that "the total embargo against all shipments to Communist China and North Korea remains unchanged."

Survey Underway On Store Hours

Special Retailers' Team Contacting Every Store to Get Complete Picture

Every storekeeper in Victoria is being asked to vote today on whether city stores should be allowed to open six days a week.

Five special representatives of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada are touring the city asking retailers to poll their views on the six-day week, the five-and-one-half-day week, and the five-day week.

The result of the poll will be placed before the city council, D. A. Gilbert, national president of the 40,000-member Retail Merchants' Association, told a meeting of Victoria retailers at the Crystal Garden Thursday night.

The 119 retailers attending the meeting applauded enthusiastically when Mr. Gilbert said: "We of the RMA are definitely opposed to unrestricted shopping hours—and we think the big operators have been calling the tune long enough."

ALL FAVOR POLL
Almost every hand was raised when he asked if RMA field men should take a poll of city stores on the six-day week, urged by many downtown merchants.

"That is fine," Mr. Gilbert said. "We shall be on the job first thing in the morning."

He announced the survey would be made by five independent RMA officials from Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. They are J. J. Markham, national field organizer; Dick McLellan and Gibb Anderson of Winnipeg; A. B. Thieson, Calgary, and Mel Hicks, Vancouver.

"We shall contact every store in the city," Mr. Markham told The Times today, "and we will keep on working till the poll is complete."

"If anyone should be overlooked I would ask them to contact me at cabin 23, Redwood Park Motel, 141 Gorge."

Questionnaires circulated at the RMA meeting revealed that 28 persons attending were in favor of some restriction of store hours; 13 stood behind the present city by-law enforcing Wednesday afternoon closing; 33 wanted a five and a half day week.

Only three wanted six-day shopping and three voted for one-night opening. Twenty retailers voted for a five-day shopping week.

Mr. Gilbert said the RMA was determined that store hours should not be altered against the wishes of independent retailers.

"We are engaged in a nationwide battle with the big chain stores which are trying to impose their will on the smaller stores," he said.

"We are opposed to any alteration in shopping by-laws unless it is by the wish of the majority. And we will fight against domination of the many by the few."

"Everywhere in Canada today a few powerful organizations are seeking to eliminate all regulation of store hours. They don't want by-laws or control of any kind."

"We know by long experience that the moment you abolish restriction you have utter chaos, with 16 or 17 groups clamoring for opening on different days and nights of the week."

Bilgeri Quits As Sidney Works Board Chairman

Says Commission
Head 'Autocratic'

SIDNEY—A difference of opinion between village commission chairman Herbert Bradley and commissioner Joseph Bilgeri has resulted in Mr. Bilgeri quitting his post as chairman of the public works committee.

The resignation was accepted at a commission meeting Thursday night.

"Again and again my efforts have been nullified by overbearing and autocratic pressure of our chairman," Mr. Bilgeri wrote in a letter of resignation from the chairmanship. "I have been subjected to disdain, scorn, mockery, derision, insolence, contempt, ridicule and criticism from him. This has become intolerable and I can accept no more."

Mr. Bradley remarked that "the only contentious point arising is the fact that Mr. Bilgeri does not see fit to carry out this work according to accepted municipal practice and exceeded his authority in several cases."

HAS WORKED HARD

"We all know he has worked very hard for the village. I feel sure that any differences that have arisen could easily have been rectified if the policy laid down by myself had been followed and less notice taken of persons outside the village commission."

The commission has decided to purchase a building at Patricia Bay Airport from Crown Assets Disposal Corporation for $500, for use as a village office, and will move the building to the site of the present office.

Commission authorized the expenditure during the year of $39,699 as follows: school costs, $15,439; general administration, $10,200; public works, $14,060. Breakdown of the public works spending shows $1,300 for street lighting, $1,000 for garbage removal, $8,000 for street repair, and $3,760 toward a new municipal building.

Power Board to Run Biggest Gas Turbine

By TOM GOULD

One of the world's largest concentrations of gas turbines for generation of electrical power will be in operation on Vancouver Island by the end of 1957.

That is the goal of the B.C. Power Commission which is planning installation of a 100,000 horsepower gas turbine generating station at a site near Nanaimo.

It will be the second largest generating station operated by the power commission, and its output will be surpassed only by the 168,000 horsepower John Hart plant on Campbell river.

Initially, the plant will be fuelled by heavy crude oil, but provision will be made for future expansion, using steam turbine units utilizing coal or other fuel forms.

Cowichan Forest Fire Blamed On Copper Mine Blasting Work

LAKE COWICHAN—Cowichan Copper Co. blasting operations on Bald Mountain, west of here, were blamed today for a fire which destroyed 25 acres of forest land Thursday afternoon.

FATHER OF 4 WINS NEW CAR

NANAIMO—Winner of a new car in a giant bingo game here Wednesday was William Tatoosh, Port Alberni Indian and father of four youngsters.

Entering the game at the last minute, he won out over 3,200 other players. Kinsmen Club, sponsors of the game, will turn profits over to Mayor Earle Westwood for development of the senior citizens' housing project here.

The fire broke out at 3 p.m. and men were called from Honeymoon Bay, across the south arm of the lake from the scene, to fight the blaze.

Only means of taking the more than 20 men to the fire was by boat from Honeymoon Bay.

Using two B.C. Forest Service pumps, they had the blaze under control by 8 p.m., and Cowichan Copper Co. employees now are standing guard.

PROSPECTING

The company operates a mine high on the south shore of the lake opposite Youbou, and apparently had been doing some prospecting in the Bald mountain area.

Langford forest service officers were called out Thursday afternoon to investigate a rubbish fire on the road leading to Triangle Mountain, near Glen Lake.

A spokesman for the service said it appeared more dangerous than it actually was, but that a guard was placed on the fire to limit its spread. It was on private property.

Forest Service officials in Victoria warned earlier this week that hazardous conditions are building up in the timberlands of Vancouver Island with the approach of the May 1 fire season.

"Conditions in the lower levels are critical," one official said. "The public will just have to be careful."

The fire season, after which permits are required for all fires in unorganized areas, starts at midnight May 1.

"That is our big problem right now. People don't have to obtain a permit, and we can't warn them of conditions and give them tips on what precautions to take," the spokesman said.

STANDBY UNIT

Chief use of the thermal plant will be to "firm up" power from Island hydro plants. It will be a standby unit for carrying peak loads, and for producing power at the time of low river flow at hydro units.

"In addition, it will gain time for construction of other hydro sources which will take longer to bring into service," said a BCPC spokesman.

Cost of the project will run from $13,000,000 to $15,000,000. Canadian General Electric will supply the power units.

CGE started development of the commercial gas turbine with construction of a 4,500-horsepower unit mounted in a locomotive.

Utility power stations have since utilized the gas turbine process. Such plants can utilize a variety of fuels, including natural gas.

Westholme Pair Mark Golden Wedding Year

CHEMAINUS—Mr. and Mrs. L. Hamilton of Westholme this week celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

They were married at Bon Accord (now Port Mann) in 1906 and came to Westholme in 1910, where Mr. Hamilton farmed until recent years.

They have four children, Mrs. A. Hill of New Westminster; Mrs. J. Richards of Robertson River, and Herbert and Jean, who reside with their parents.

The golden anniversary was the seventh such event in Mrs. Hamilton's family.

Effective May 2 and for the duration of the daylight saving time period, meetings of North Cowichan municipal council will be held the first and third Wednesday of the month at 7.30 p.m. Council meetings were formerly held the first and third Tuesday afternoons.

The 20th annual meeting of the Chemainus Garden Club was held in the elementary school this week.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were Mrs. E. Hess, president, and Miss K. Hill, secretary-treasurer.

Because of the heavy frost damage this spring the annual flower show has been cancelled.

VOLUNTARY SEGREGATION

Despite Supreme Court ruling ending segregation on intra-state transportation, bus riders in Dallas, Tex., continue separate seating on a voluntary basis. The bus company had removed segregation signs from all of its buses in compliance with the ruling.

Haigh Remanded; Faces Charge of Impaired Driving

Fred Haigh, 53, 942 Balmoral, was remanded to next Thursday for judgment, following completion of his trial on an impaired driving charge in Saanich police court Thursday.

Defence is seeking dismissal of the charge for lack of evidence regarding negligent driving or danger to other persons.

Police said the accused entered the Saanich police station at about 12.20 a.m. on April 10. He told officers there that his car was in a ditch and he needed a tow to get it out.

Police said the man was confused and his breath smelled strongly of alcohol.

Dr. E. L. McNiven, who examined Haigh for sobriety at about 1.15 a.m., and three police officers said it was their opinion that Haigh was impaired at the station.

The car was found on Royal Oak Avenue, with a front wheel in loose gravel off the road. Haigh said he was attempting to turn his car around when the wheel slipped from the road and became stuck in the gravel.

Atlantic Cable Laid

MONTREAL (CP)—The cable ship Monarch will begin laying the final length of a new $40,000,000 trans-Atlantic cable by May 1. It was learned Wednesday. The ship will begin its cable-laying operations at Sydney Mines, N.S., and it is estimated the project should be completed by late fall.

Zoning Bylaw Still Hung Up

Contentious Measure Referred Again to Town Planning Body

By PETE LOUDON

A familiar pattern of delay forced tabling of the five-year-old-but-never-yet-been-passed Victoria zoning by-law Thursday.

Council tried to tie up all the loose ends, inserted all recent amendments including the contentious question of Cherry Bank Hotel rezoning (see story, page 25), but referred one item back to Town Planning Commission on urging of Ald. Robert Macmillan.

It was a comparatively minor matter concerning three or four lots along the Gorge which are to be rezoned from commercial to multiple dwelling by the new by-law. Ald. Macmillan said he felt they should remain commercial.

ANOTHER HEARING?

Observers feel the TPC reconsideration could result in the need for yet another public hearing. Also council is due to begin studies of the estimates Monday afternoon. If any more delays ensue council may find itself in the middle of summer holiday season and the necessary six aldermen majority may be hard to muster before the fall.

Similar delays have thwarted the TPC project for two years. The by-law, which if passed will serve to bind together all amendments to the current by-law since 1929, faces more argument, too.

DOZEN POINTS

Ald. Macmillan says he has a dozen points of conflict lined up, not the least of which is the TPC move to halt apartment zoning in the section of James Bay between the Legislative Buildings and Beacon Hill Park.

The clause was included in the new by-law in deference to proposed expansion of the buildings in that direction. Since then government officials have hinted expansion may be directed west of the present government buildings.

There has been heavy opposition, too, to new off-street parking regulations and set-back rules affecting builders. Although council has fallen in line with all these changes, according to Ald. Macmillan, nothing can be classed as definitely decided until the final passage of the by-law.

COMPANY FACES REPRISALS

Montgomery City Lines, which operates the city's only bus service, has ordered its drivers to stop enforcing segregation, but city and state officials have promised reprisals against any integration attempt. The bus company's order came in the wake of a ruling by the United States Supreme Court Monday that segregation on buses is unconstitutional.

Some Negroes have continued to patronize the bus line despite the mass protest, but there has been no reported effort to sit with white passengers. The Negroes have stayed in the rear of the buses where they always sat.

City and state officials have said that regardless of what the courts may do about laws in other states, they will continue to enforce the statutes here until they are ruled unconstitutional. Negroes began their boycott here December 5 after a Negro seamstress was fined $14 for refusing to move to the Negro section of a bus.

MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO ASSAULTING GIRLS

Sentence will be imposed in Saanich police court next Thursday on Lionel Joseph Cayer, 1558 Charlton, on two charges of indecent assault.

Cayer pleaded guilty to both charges Thursday. He will be examined by a psychiatrist.

Both charges involved assaults on 10-year-old girls. Cayer paid each girl 50 cents after the assaults, police testified.

Driving Without Licence Brings Ninth Conviction

Fine of $75 or 30 days in jail was a jail term, regardless of an imposed on Clarence A. Billett, 191 cuse.

Billett said he drove a wrecker truck without tail lights and carrying an engine on a hoist, to move it from a dark highway. The offence occurred April 7. Court was told Billett had eight previous convictions for driving while suspended.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall warned Billett that a repetition would bring while suspended.

Impaired Driver Kicked Window Out of Police Car; Fine $250

Change of plea from not guilty to one of guilty was entered in Saanich police court Thursday for Kenneth C. Grant, 3429 St. Mathews, charged with being in control of an auto while his ability was impaired by alcohol April 25.

Grant was fined $250 or 20 days in jail on that charge, and an additional $15 or three days on a charge of wilfully damaging a police patrol car.

Police said Grant was found sitting in a car on Union avenue at about 12:30 a.m. April 25. The rear wheels of the car were in a ditch and the horn was blowing.

After being placed in a patrol wagon, Grant kicked out a window valued at $20. Court was told restitution will be made.

PAPA DORSSERS WANTS 90 GRANDCHILDREN FROM MASS WEDDING

Six Brides, Six Grooms in Ontario Wedding

BLENHEIM, Ont. (CP)—Leo Dorssers will have 90 sturdy few days in the trim white at Blenheim's Roman Catholic church of St. Mary.

Canadian grandchildren if four daughters and two sons who little southwestern Ontario marry Saturday follow papa's lead.

"Big families are good for Canada," says the 61-year-old Dutch farmer.

Things have bustled the last who marry in a mass ceremony. Three priests are to conduct the nuptial ceremony. The six Dorssers and their Dutch-born mates-to-be from this area's large Netherlands colony will have in all three bridesmaids, jobs doing mainly domestic work. Cornelius, 26, has a job a flower girl and five best men.

But life has always been busy for Mama and Papa Dorssers and for the happy half dozen—in town here and Andre, 28, four daughters and two sons—works in Wallaceburg.

Fifty newspapermen are expected from the U.S. and Canada.

The Times Island Open comes to its surprising climax at Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday.

Laurie Kerr and Vince Clarkson battle it out to see who is going to wear the mantle previously worn by only an elite few in the city.

Too long, mo' observers say, has the field been dominated by a select group. But not so Sunday.

The McColls, the Morrisons, the Flemings and the Merriamans have had their chance and been found wanting.

Kerr and Clarkson, on the other hand, have moved into their present position, respectively, by sheer consistency and a fighting heart.

Kerr has been a model of steady golf during his rise to the heights, a rise that could make him a serious contender next month for the B.C. amateur crown.

Steady March

All his victories have been by handy margins. He defeated Bill Milne, 5 and 4; Joe Evans, 4 and 3; Oak Bay assistant pro Laurie Carroll, on Carroll's home course, 6 and 4, and then shouldered defending champion Bill McColl to the sidelines in an amazing 8 and 7 margin at Colwood.

Clarkson's advance has been equally as impressive. He defeated Gorge Vale junior star Norm Boden at Gorge Vale, 5 and 3; he waxed Bobby Woods, former Uplands champ, at Uplands, 6 and 5; he scored a spectacular 19th hole victory over Dr. George Bigelow at Victoria Club, which the golfing medic calls home, and he came from behind a two-hole deficit on the afternoon round of his 36-hole match with Ted Colgate at Colwood to eliminate the former Island king, 4 and 3.

Form gives the edge to Kerr, but Clarkson is a scrapper.

And one reason Vince has moved into the limelight this year is that he has had more opportunity to play than in previous years. Further, he will be virtually "at home" on the Gorge course as he was weaned on the Craigflower layout.

He knows the course well. This week, for example, in a practice match with Bob Fleming, Clarkson fired a 76, Fleming a 72. The match ended all square. That's the type Clarkson is. He can give away a hole and then get it back. Match play is his baby, and a bogey or two doesn't bother him.

Bert Rates

In Vancouver, things are also in the eyebrow raising vein.

Only one pro is left in the field of the Province match play. He's Garnet Lineker of Marine Drive. Lyle Crawford and Lee Morgan are out; and Bert Ticehurst and John Russell are being touted as the fellows to beat for the marbles.

Ticehurst isn't the nonentity that some people think. The former Burrard lacrosse star was a semifinalist here a few years ago in the B.C. Amateur; and Fleming, who bounced Bert in the semis that year, was under par when he did it. That's the type Ticehurst is. He rates.

No definite date has yet been set for the B.C. playoff between the Island and mainland champions. The mainland tourney is running late because of a cancelled round due to bad weather. However, the final will be played in Vancouver.

You may have noticed the item, or perhaps not.

At any rate, when Jackie Burke won the Masters, it was his dad's dream coming true. Jackie's father was a pretty fair to middlin' golfer in his day, being runner-up in the 1921 U.S. Open.

And did you know that in the final round of the Masters, weather conditions were so bad that only two men broke par—Jackie Burke and the old smoothie, Sammy Snead. That's what made Jackie's victory the sweeter. And whatever became of U.S. Open champion Jack Fleck?

BUNKER BLASTS—Suggestion is that the Island and Mainland match play championships be played later in the season in future years. ... Heard a report that Isabel McIntyre, one of the top city fair sex shotsmiths, is thinking along retirement lines. ... Ken Venturi, who leveled un-sportsmanship charges at his partner in the final round of the Masters, probably because of his final round score of 80 which lost him the championship, has apologized to promoter Bobby Jones. ... said Venturi, in essence, "I've learned the biggest lesson of my life."

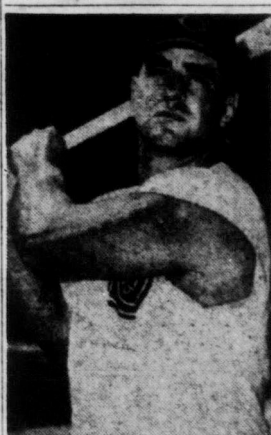

HIGH SCHOOL DAY BACKFIRES

An usher in Kansas City Park stands impassively with arms folded while rioting high school youths fight all around him. A brawl followed a "High School Day" game between Kansas City Athletics and Detroit Tigers when 1,000 white and Negro youths engaged in a gang war and fought for 10 minutes all over the field. (NEA-Telephoto.)

Mounties Make 'Home' Debut in PCL Tonight

THE STRONGEST MAN IN baseball, Ted Kluszewski has been benched by Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbetts for being overweight. Home run hitting "Klu" is tipping the scales at 248 pounds and that, says Tebbetts, "is 10 pounds too much."

John Bower Most Valuable

NEW YORK (AP)—Goalie Johnny Bower of Providence Reds was named Thursday as the most valuable player of the American Hockey League for the 1955-56 season.

Bower, 30-year-old native of Prince Albert, Sask., is the first goaltender to receive that honor. Almost a unanimous choice of the league's press, radio and TV representatives, he received first-place votes in five of the six league cities and 28 of a possible 30 points.

Zellio Toppazini, Providence, league-leading scorer, placed second with 10 points.

Bower, also chosen for the league's all-star team, will get a league bonus of $300 and the Leslie Cunningham Trophy, which is given each season by the St. Louis Flyers' booster club.

Ed First, Not Frank

BALTIMORE (AP)—Not that he'd care to brag about it, but it was Ed Rommel and not Frank Umont who was the first major league umpire to wear eyeglasses in a regular game.

So Paul Menton, sports editor of the Baltimore Sun, wrote Thursday. A story that Umont was the first to wear spectacles in the Detroit-Kansas City game Tuesday prompted Menton to recall Rommel had told him he wore them on April 18 at the New York Yankee game in Washington.

"I believe it was the first time in the majors and no one noticed them," Menton quoted Rommel.

Bible-Reading Kitone Britain's New Favorite

DONCASTER, Eng. (Reuters)—Kitone Lave, Negro heavyweight boxer from the South Seas and protégé of Queen Salote of Tonga, is back in Doncaster reading his Bible after mauling Don Cockell, the British and Empire champion, in London Tuesday night.

Lave (pronounced lah-vay) took less than two rounds to end the ring career of Cockell. It took Rocky Marciano nine rounds to finish the British pig-farmer in their title fight at San Francisco last May.

The 22-year-old Tongan is fast becoming as popular in this country as his beaming

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pacific Coast League baseball makes its debut tonight in Vancouver, the city with the smallest stadium and the biggest hopes in the league.

Stern critics might be tempted to say Vancouver Mounties haven't shown much else this year but hopes. In 15 league games so far this season, the Mounties have won but five. They're last in the team standings.

The fact isn't likely to daunt a capacity crowd expected to fill the 9,200 seats at Capilano stadium and push out behind ropes in the outfield to see the Mounties play San Francisco Seals. The stadium box-office figures on a crowd of up to 10,000 and the weather office has done its bit by promising clear skies.

General manager Cedric Tallis was all optimism Thursday.

"I certainly believe Vancouver will outdraw most other teams in the league," Tallis said, "and I think we ought to finish up one-two-three with Portland and Seattle in attendance."

He also believes the Mounties will "react very favorably to the home crowds and the hometown enthusiasm" to climb from their slump.

DOUGH FOR BLOW

One local merchant, a rare specimen of Tallis' "hometown enthusiasm," has rented a section of the right-field fence. He'll have his picture painted on it, with a hole slightly larger than a baseball where the mouth should be. Any Mountie that slams the ball through the hole on the fly will get $100,000.

Tonight marks the first time the Pacific Coast League has crossed the international boundary. The eight-team circuit has long been made up only of teams from California, Oregon and Washington states.

HARPER HONORED

WINNIPEG (CP)—George (Scotty) Harper, 68, veteran curling writer with the Winnipeg Free Press Thursday night was named an honorary life member of the Manitoba Curling Association—first time in the MCA's 68-year history that a man not directly associated with a curling club has received the honor.

MINNEAPOLIS—Glen Flanagan, 134 St. Paul outpouted Bob Bickie, 134½, Kansas City 10½.

Doug Still the Best Of NHL Defence Stars

MONTREAL (CP)—Doug Harvey of Montreal Canadiens is the winner of the James Norris Memorial Trophy as the outstanding defenceman in the National Hockey League for the 1955-56 season, the league announced Thursday.

It is the second successive year that Harvey has captured the award. He also receives $1,000 from the NHL.

Harvey received 156 points of a possible 180, far in front in the voting by sports writers, broadcasters and telecasters in the six NHL cities. Closest was Bill Gadsby of New York Rangers, with 59 points. Red Kelly of Detroit Red Wings, winner in the 1953-54 season when the trophy was first presented, was third with 44 points.

Among 10 others who received scattered votes were Tom John, a teammate of Harvey, with 21 points; Fern Flaman of Boston Bruins, 11 points; and Harry Howell of Rangers, eight points.

what you think is right, but do nothing hastily. Remember you are in Britain for sport."

Lave commented Wednesday: "She thinks it is my behavior and not necessarily my victories that is most important."

In his first British fight the "Tongan Torpedo" lost in one round to former British champion Johnny Williams. Since then, however, the 200-pound Tongan has knocked out five opponents, including former Italian champion Ueber Badler and now Cockell.

He has lost two decisions in Britain—one of them hotly disputed.

Queen Salote takes a personal interest in Lave, a household servant in her Tongan palace. She writes to him almost weekly and his first act after beating Cockell was to cable her news of the victory. Salote wrote him when he first arrived in Britain: "De

Marciano Retires; To Live 'For Family'

Heavyweight Champion Undefeated

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano announced today he was retiring undefeated "because I want to start living for my family."

(AP and UP Dispatches)

World heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano will retire from the ring, undefeated.

Marciano's wife, Barbara, today told newsmen she had received positive assurance from Marciano that he would announce his retirement momentarily.

She told the Brockton Enterprise that she had talked with her husband in New York and he said he would make the formal announcement later today at a press conference.

"Rocky called me this morning and told me it was in the works—that he was going to meet with the newspapers this afternoon and tell them he plans to retire," Mrs. Marciano said.

"Three months ago—before he went to South America," she said, "I begged and pleaded with him to quit the ring while he was whole—for me and the baby, Mary Ann."

Mary Ann, she said, will be three years old in December.

TWO CALLS

"Late last night and again this morning, Rocky called to say he was quitting," she said. The son of a Brockton shoe worker, Rocky will be 32 in Sept. 1.

Marciano, nicknamed the "Brockton Block Buster" in his early ring career, broke into the professional ranks July 12, 1948, with a one-round knockout victory. He fought nine more times in 1948, winning by knockouts each time.

He never has been defeated in the ring.

Marciano won the heavyweight championship in 1952 from the aging Jersey Joe Walcott and has reigned supreme in the heavyweight class since.

FIGHTER OF YEAR

He was voted the "fighter of the year" before his victory over Walcott.

An aggressive, hard-hitting fighter, Marciano's early style was branded "cruel" by boxing writers, but his impressive knockout power soon brought him into the spotlight of top boxers.

Born Rocco Marchegiano, he shortened it to Marciano when he entered the ring.

Talk of Rocky's retirement has been circulating in boxing circles for some time. The champion recently returned from a tour of South America and the talk resumed anew.

Marciano defended his title last Sept. 21 with a ninth round knockout over Archie Moore in Yankee stadium. On May 16, 1955, he stopped Don Cockell of England in the ninth at San Francisco.

After knocking out Walcott in the 13th round of their Sept. 23, 1952, bout to win the title, Marciano defended it successfully six times.

The other successful defenses: May 12, 1953—Knockout over Walcott in return bout in first round; Sept. 22, 1953—Knockout over Roland La Starza, 11th round; June 15, 1954—Outpointed Ezzard Charles, 15 rounds; Sept. 17, 1954—Knocked out Charles in 8th round; Then came his 1955 fights against Cockell and Moore.

TENNIS ROYALTY TO SHOW HERE

Officials of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club confirmed today that Jack Kramer's professional tennis troupe will appear in Victoria May 25. Included in the troupe are world professional champion Pancho Gonzales, Tony Trabert, Pancho Segura and Rex Hartwig. They will play singles and doubles matches at the VLT and B courts on Amphion Street.

'Rocks Seek Bobby Bremner

Bobby Bremner, former Adanac, New Westminster, and Nanaimo lacrosse star, has applied for a transfer to the Victoria Shamrocks.

Tommy Gordon, secretary of the Intercity Lacrosse League, said today the league commission will rule on Bremner's transfer application some time this weekend.

If the transfer is approved, mainland weather may be the deciding factor as to when Bremner will join the Shamrocks.

The slender mainland scoring star is a part-owner of a small logging company and has expressed a desire to finish up his business there before joining the Rocks.

However, if hot weather forces a forest closure, he would join the club almost immediately.

It is thought that Bremner would take up permanent residence in Victoria if he joins the Shamrocks, rather than commute to games as he did with Nanaimo last year.

It is not immediately known what action the Nanaimo club will take on the transfer application.

NANAIMO TO PROTEST?

A Timbriermen official was quoted this week as saying the club considered Bremner to be retiring. The official also said that if Bremner wanted to play for another club, they would not contest his transfer as long as he wanted to join the relatively weak New Westminster team.

However, Nanaimo may attempt to stop Bremner from joining the Victoria club.

Built along slender lines, Bremner has always been a top scorer because of his breakaway speed and pinpoint shooting and is regarded as one of the hardest-checking forwards in the league. His adaptability and experience would make him a valuable acquisition.

Bremner's application is the only one on the Intercity docket but the Canadian Lacrosse Association will be ruling on transfer requests by Peterborough stars Bobby Allen and Ron Jay, who have asked permission to leave their eastern club and join the Nanaimo team.

EDMONTON—Archie Moore, 190, San Diego, knocked out Sonny Andrews, 194, Los Angeles (4).

LOS ANGELES—Tommy Smith, 151, Los Angeles, stopped Jimmy King, 152½, Montgomery, Ala. (3). Billy Pearce, 129½, Los Angeles, knocked out Nate Brooks, 127½, Cleveland (1).

Refereeing Different, Says Elmer

Lach Not Impressed; Puck Final Resumes

EDMONTON (CP)—Style of play and injuries are expected to have a bearing on the outcome of tonight's second game between Montreal Royals and Winnipeg Warriors for the Edinburgh Trophy.

The Warriors took a one-game lead in the best-of-nine series by defeating the Quebec Hockey League champions, 6-3, in Calgary Wednesday night.

But Montreal coach Elmer Lach intimated in Calgary he was not impressed with the officiating.

"I'm not trying to alibi our defeat but the holding, hooking and interference was something we haven't experienced all year," he said.

"In our league they clamp down on that sort of stuff and it makes for a better game. It's a little discouraging to see the opposition getting away with that kind of stuff," he added.

WON'T CHANGE STYLE

But Lach doesn't intend to change his team's style of play. "We could fight fire with fire but I don't believe we should lower our standards just to suit someone else. We'll play it the way we have done all season and I think we'll get stronger as we go along."

The Montreal club has an injury problem, too. Calum MacKay suffered a cut over his eye in the Calgary game. Ron Ingram received a charley horse, Jacques Deslauriers played with a pulled muscle while Bud McPherson was still suffering from a charley horse picked up in the eastern final.

NO REPLACEMENTS

Coach Lach said he didn't know how his injured players would be for tonight's game, "but if they can skate at all we'll have to go with them because we have no replacements."

MIDGET MILE MARK

VANCOUVER (CP)—Glen Oliver, 15-year-old student, Wednesday night broke the Canadian midget mile record by covering the distance in 4.484 minutes. The previous mark was 4.49.6, set by Gerry Bain of Vancouver in 1954.

"I don't see why you need such a big one. Ed... After all, the tennis tournament was just between you and me!"

Oak Bay Cricketers To Prep for Season

The Oak Bay Cricket Club will ready for the summer season with a practice and a friendly match this weekend. On Saturday, the club will work out at Windsor Park and on Sunday afternoon there will be a friendly match with Alcos at 2:30.

Littler Two in Front In Bid to Keep Title

United Press Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Gene Littler, the 25-year-old ex-sailor, is ready to give the country's top professionals another lesson on how to play a flat, windy golf course.

Littler tees off in the second round of the $37,500 tournament of champions today holding a two-stroke lead over his 21 competitors—a better position than he was in last year when he went on to win this event by 13 strokes.

Thursday he was the only man in the field of champions to break par, and he did it by two strokes. He was out in 34, and in 36 for a 70 on a course swept by 40-mile-an-hour winds.

"I played good," he said later, "but it was the putting that did it. On the fourth hole I had a 65-footer and I was hoping to get close enough so I wouldn't three-putt. The ball had to roll over two humps. But it kept rolling right into the cup. In second place were Shelby

Mayfield, Doug Ford and Ted Kroll. Mayfield carried a consistently even par 36-36, Ford 34-38 and Kroll 38-34.

Al Balding, Toronto, Canada; Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif.; and Gardner Dickinson, Panama City Beach, Fla., each had 76; Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill., 76, and Dick Mayer, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 77.

There were some disappointments in the going, too. Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who teed off as the 4-1 betting favorite, came in with a sky-high 79—complaining about unfair placing of the pins on the greens.

Lake Hill Bowlers Open Play Next Week

The Lake Hill Lawn Bowling Club will hold its official summer opening next Wednesday at 2. All bowlers wishing to take up the game are invited to attend. Further information may be obtained by contacting the secretary at 9-3721.

REPORT FROM THE OUTDOORS

Fishermen, get that dollar ready. It's time to start thinking again about the Anglers-Times Solarium Derby, Sunday, July 22, is the big date, and derby chairman George Douglas and his perspiring committees are already hard at work on the details.

All proceeds from the ticket sales, at one buck a throw, will again go to helping the kids at the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Last year's net was almost $6,800. This year, Douglas has set $7,000 as the mark to pass.

To that end, a number of inducements will be set forth for properly-ticketed anglers. Among these is the main prize, a 1956 Ford Fairlane. Victoria businessmen are now being approached by one of Douglas' committees, and the prize list this year should approximate $4,000.

The big derby will be streamlined a bit this year, too, for the convenience of all concerned. Direct radio contact will be kept between Anchorage Boathouse, Brentwood, and the other two weigh-in stations, Hall's at Goldstream, and Holder's at Deep Cove. When the salmon are weighed in, their weights will be flashed to the headquarters at Anchorage.

If the system works satisfactorily, and derby officials have high hopes that it will, the delay in the presentation of prizes will be noticeably reduced.

So indications are that this will be a big year all 'round for everyone concerned with the derby, except the fish. Ticket sales will go on sale any day now, so fishermen, stand by with that buck.

Fishing itself around the Island is a bit sketchy these days. From Lake Cowichan comes the best word, there the cutthroats are reported moving in from the sea, and quite a few are being taken on a straight wet fly. Art Hancock reports that a party of several Americans and some Vancouver anglers had rewarding success over the weekend.

Deep Cove and the northern end of Saanich Inlet will be quiet for a week or so yet. Holder's Boathouse has rented no boats yet this season and there have been no reports of any fish being brought in. The north wind prevents good fishing up there this time of year, but it usually picks up around the first week of May, when the first reports start coming in.

No boats have been out at Cowichan Bay, either, and the fishing isn't expected to be worthwhile in that area until the middle of July.

Hall's Boathouse at Goldstream is marking up a steady parade of limits and near-limits of big and small salmon, and Sid Upton occupied top spot this week with a 20-lb. spring, caught near Goldstream Island on a Mac's Squid plug, 300 feet of line and a pound of weight. Sid and son, John, also numbered another small spring and nine bluebacks in the catch. Fish are being taken on spoons, herring strip and plugs with the big fish being caught deep, with around 300 feet of line.

Most northern rivers on the Island are swollen with spring runoffs and fishing has not been good, although some small lakes in the Albernis have been producing fair numbers of trout. Trout fishing is also reported good in Melvor and Mann Lakes and the Miller River near Campbell River.

Prep Pitcher Blanks Major League Scouts

SALEM, Ill. (AP)—Opposing batters and big league scouts have been blanked this season in their dealings with Jerry Mercer, Salem high school pitcher who has thrown five no-hitters in six games.

Vernon Preps for Cup; Chatham Tactics Scored

VERNON, B.C. (CP)

Unperturbed by the loss of two players, coach George Agar says his Vernon Canadians can clean up the Allan Cup tonight.

"We'll finish 'em off if we don't get too cocky," he said.

Canadians have a 3-1 advantage over Chatham Maroons, labelled a "cry-baby" team by a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association representative.

Chatham will have a one-man advantage in strength because two Vernon players are out with injuries received Wednesday night in Kamloops. Defenceman Don McLeod has a broken toe and forward Walt Trentini is suffering from a cracked ankle bone.

Ted Power, Chatham centre, will be dressed again tonight after sitting out two games as punishment for striking Vernon defenceman Willie Schmidt with his stick in the second game of the series. The battle left Schmidt with two fourth-stitch head cuts.

"NEBULOUS ACCUSATIONS"

Dr. Mel Butler, western representative of the CAHA, Thursday night issued a statement in Kelowna charging Maroons with "nebulous accusations and unorthodox tactics" in the series.

He labelled as "petty criticism" charges that the refereeing had been lax and that additional games should have been played on neutral ice.

Dr. Butler said the reason one game was played in Kelowna, another in Kamloops and the rest in Vernon was that none of the communities was large enough to stand the financial strain should the series go the full seven games.

The referees are appointed each year from the same part of Canada as the visiting team. This year's referees, Jim Haggerty of Montreal and Len Corriveau of Quebec City, were appointed on advice of eastern officials. It offsets any disadvantage the visiting team might suffer because of interpretation of rules, he said.

Dr. Butler defended the referees as able and competent.

He described the Chatham team's attitude as that of a "cry-baby."

Meanwhile, Vernon is preparing an all-out celebration should their team win tonight. Mayor Frank Becker called a meeting Thursday at which plans were laid for a parade from the arena to the downtown area.

Heggie Defends Uplands Cup

Defending champion Claude Heggie will be on hand Sunday for the first half of the Uplands Cup competition at Uplands Golf Club.

PROPOSED QUAKER SALE CONFIRMED

SASKATOON (CP)—Directors of the Arena Rink Limited Thursday confirmed putting the arena and the Saskatoon Quaker franchise up for public sale—at a price of $250,000 for the rink and from $25,000 to $50,000 for the team franchise in the Western Hockey League.

They will be sold collectively or separately depending on offers received, S. E. Bushe, president of the Arena board of directors, announced.

The sale will be advertised and the league will be informed that the sale is proposed, he said.

BEATEN BY NON-ELIGIBLE

Derby 'Hopefuls' Not So Hopeful Now

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Toby B, a non-eligible for the Kentucky Derby, beat six strong Derby contenders Thursday in the $25,000 added Blue Grass Stakes, an important prep for the May 5 classic at Louisville.

Career Boy, No. 2 horse in the derby future book, was second, three-quarters of a length behind the upstart from the stable of Gene Van Deren of Cynthia, Ky.

Reaping Right, the Louisiana derby winner, was third. The time of 1:51 for the 1 1/4 miles over a slow track compares with the track and stakes record of 1:49 established in 1953 by Correspondent.

The winner returned $42.00 and $5.20. There was no show betting. The payoff on Career Boy was $2.20.

BETTER IN FACT

Wynn No Worse For Miseries

By The Associated Press

If poor old Early Wynn can manage to remain miserable through September he may wind up the major league season with a perfect record.

It seems the worse Wynn feels the better he pitches. At least that's the way it has been in the first two starts this season.

A week ago Wynn picked up a newspaper and read that Cleveland was considering trading him to Chicago White Sox. That saddened the 36-year-old righthander.

"It's an awful thing to pitch for a team which you feel no longer wants you," he said gloomily.

Early was so depressed he went out and hit Detroit to five hits for a 3-1 victory.

Wynn refused to be consoled despite denials by Cleveland general manager Hank Greenberg.

"Where there's smoke, there's fire," he said bitterly. "There's been so much talk of trading me I feel there must be something to it."

URNS IN FOUR-HITTER

So it was with a heavy heart that Wynn took the mound against Kansas City Thursday. The Indian ace kept his thoughts to himself but judging from his performance, he must have felt bad because he turned in a four-hitter, pitching Cleveland to a 14-2 victory.

Indians picked up a full game on the defending champion New York Yankees, who were beaten 7-3 by Orioles in Baltimore. The rest of the American League schedule, as well as the only National League game scheduled was wiped out by rain and cold weather.

Wynn had to share the spotlight with teammate Chico Carrasquel. The Venezuelan shortstop enjoyed a banner afternoon at the plate, driving in seven runs with a homer and double. His four-bagger came in the third inning with the bases full.

Chico's double also came with the bases jammed in the fifth. The first blow was hit off Lou Kretlow, the starter and loser. The second blast was hit off Jack Cremin.

FISH-GAME PROBLEM

Too Many Shooters, And Not Enough Guns

Swamped by the response to their instruction classes for junior shooters, the Victoria Fish and Game Association has run out of guns and has issued an appeal to city sportsmen for aid.

The club expected 50 boys to turn out to its classes in safe shooting and handling of firearms but, to date, 250 youngsters have turned out and more are expected.

LANDY HINTS HE'LL BID FOR NEW MILE RECORD

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP)—Track champion John Landy hinted today he hopes to top his own world's record of 3.58 for the mile during his coming tour of the United States.

All Landy would say specifically is that he expects to cover the distance in "around four minutes," but he told newsmen here that "I'm a lot better runner now than when I posted my world record time."

The Australian runner leaves here by air tonight on a schedule that should get him into San Francisco early Sunday. He said he is "looking forward eagerly but not over-optimistically" to the U.S. tour.

Rewards for Pro Hockey Career 'Generous' Says NHL President

TORONTO (CP)—Young hockey players who choose to pursue a career in professional hockey will have no regrets, Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Thursday night.

"The rewards are extremely generous," he told 250 persons at the inaugural $5-a-plate Memorial Cup dinner. "The game is not going back. It is going ahead. The National Hockey League had its most successful year in its history last season."

Pointing his remarks at members of Regina Pats and Toronto Marlboros, who open their best-of-seven Memorial Cup final series here tonight, Campbell said: "If you want to become a professional hockey player I can assure you the rewards will be extremely generous. A player in the National League for 10 years will earn a pension that many other persons could not earn in 30 years in any other business. The NHL pension works out to just under $300 a month at the age of 65."

"Believe me, you will have no regrets if you choose to make professional hockey your career."

One Hour Strays Saturday Night

Annual Change to Fast Time Affects Most Canadians

By CHARLES J. LAZARUS
British United Press Staff Correspondent

MONTREAL (BUP)—Most of Canada's inhabitants will move their clocks forward one hour at midnight Saturday or early Sunday. Those who feel they will lose an hour's sleep can look forward comfortably to regaining it when the nation's timepieces are moved back one hour next Sept. 30.

However, for some folks it doesn't work out quite that way. In Winnipeg last year, for example, beer parlor patrons lost neither an hour or even a minute's time by the time change.

One municipality in that metropolitan area decided to stay on standard time. Some of the patrons left the Winnipeg beer parlors at the required closing time of 10 p.m. (daylight) and merely moved over to the neighboring municipality where it was 9 p.m. (standard) a few blocks away.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific most Canadians will welcome the extra hour of daylight that comes with the advanced time. But there will be some complications.

Cow Time Rules Maritimes Farms

In the maritime provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island most cities will start daylight saving time Saturday but many rural areas will stay on standard time. Just why a cow would rather be milked at 5 a.m. (standard) than 6 a.m. (daylight) has never been adequately explained to city folk.

In Quebec the large centres will go daylight at midnight. The Montreal police personnel are particularly happy about it since the midnight to 8 a.m. shift will be only seven hours instead of the usual eight.

Railroads and steamships, as always, will run on standard time though adjustment will be made in timetables so as not to confuse the passengers. However, commuter train schedules in the Montreal area will be arranged to conform with the new time.

Ontario, generally, moves to Local Option Pockmarks Prairies

In Manitoba, the different municipalities decide for themselves which they prefer, daylight or standard time. Most cities, like Winnipeg, Brandon, Selkirk, Portage la Prairie and others shift to the "fast" time, while farm areas stay on the "old" time as dictated by tradition.

The other Prairie Provinces follow pretty much in the same pattern. Saskatchewan will shift to daylight saving time at 2 a.m. Sunday in most urban centres, where sports activities benefit from the extra hour of daylight. Rural areas, by and large, stay standard.

The entire province of British Columbia will switch to daylight time Saturday midnight, with no areas staying on the "slow" time.

Actual Loss Is Only 50 Seconds

Approximately 70,000,000 Americans—about half the population of the United States—will turn to daylight time.

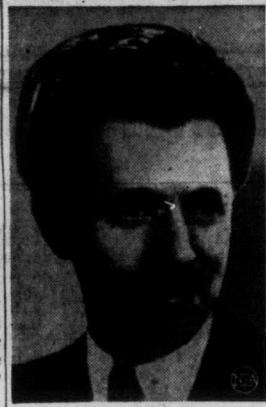

An interesting sidelight on the annual time switch has been provided at Elgin, Ill., where scientists of the Elgin Laboratory said that actually 59 seconds, not 60, will be lost when the time shifts.

The scientists said that since the earth is revolving more slowly these days—probably because it is getting older—the second is less than what it used to be.

City's Decision on Purchase Of Woodward's Land Delayed

Decision whether to buy back a block of land relinquished by Woodward Stores Ltd. was delayed by city council after an in-camera meeting Thursday.

City sold the store the property facing on Pandora. Blanchard and Cormorant several years ago on agreement it would have first refusal if the firm did not build there.

Finance committee had recommended the city turn down the offer. Price was $185,000.

But Ald. Robert Macmillan said earlier loss of the property would be loss of thousands of dollars. He felt it should be retained for corporate purposes (as required by the Municipal Act), either as a site for a new city hall, police and fire station, auditorium or parking centre.

If the city decided not to go ahead with any of those projects it could sell at a gain, he thought.

How council reacted to his proposals was not revealed, ex-

MG-A Takes Team Title in Sebring's Grand Prix of Endurance

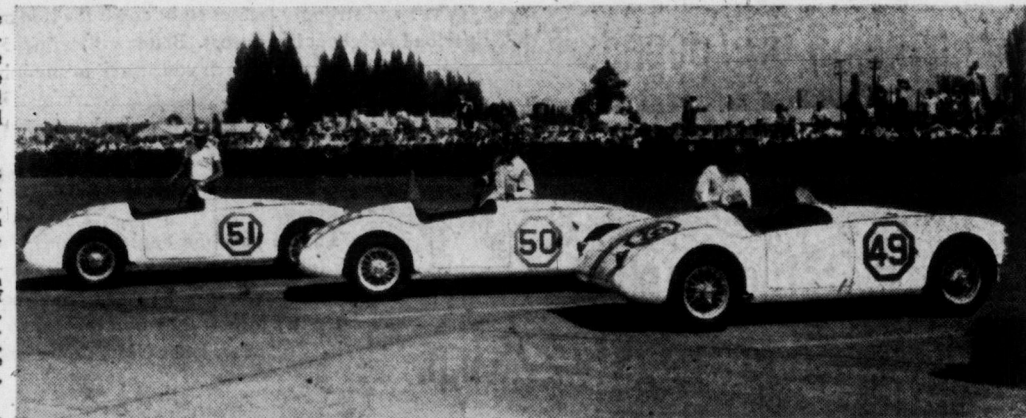

SEBRING, FLORIDA—The dependability and sparkling performance of Morris-built cars were thoroughly demonstrated here today, as 3 MG-As won the coveted Team Title in the gruelling Grand Prix of Endurance.

This annual classic, America's biggest sports car event, emphasizes dependability over speed. To win their laurels, the MG-As had to run 12 hours, in blinding sunlight and heavy darkness. Frequently attaining 100 m.p.h.

Constant high speed, twisting hairpin turns, and fatigue took a high toll of drivers and machines. Of 60 entrants, only 24 survived the 12 hour ordeal. But when the last minute ticked away, all the MG-As were still in there, the only team to finish, outlasting cars bigger, and many times more expensive.

There could be no better tribute to the quality of Morris engineering and manufacture, than this great MG-A winning performance!

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

There is a great deal to be said for the idea of changing our Island's name.

This statement may surprise constituents who come to accept Between Times as a stodgy, reactionary enemy of progress, and a supporter of the status quo.

But this is one time when I believe the status quo should go, to make room for the manifold advantages of a new name for Vancouver Island.

In fact, I would go farther, and suggest we have several new names for Vancouver Island.

Living in the same old place, year after year, gets mighty monotonous.

Yet moving from one place to another place is such a worrisome chore, most of us are inclined to vegetate and take root in the one place, thus becoming victims of our own inertia, and plagued with a bad case of boredom.

All this could be changed by changing the name of Vancouver Island.

Then, when your friends say, "Are you still living in the same old place?" you can answer, "Heavens, no. I don't live on Vancouver Island now. I live on the Isle of Capri."

Your friends will be impressed no end.

To ensure continued variety, Vancouver Island should be given more than one new name. As a starter, we could re-name the Island once a year, so the residents of the Island would have a new place to live come New Year's Day.

In addition to the obvious advantages for the residents, the effects of this annual name change would be felt in the world's economy.

Map makers and atlas manufacturers everywhere would be provided with extra revenue, and they, in turn, would have to hire extra workers to keep up with the changes, thus creating employment and staving off depression.

Once the idea of the annual name change has met with universal approval, the next step could be taken.

This would be seasonal changes of name—especially valuable for those of us without the time and money for vacation trips to far away, exotic lands.

For instance, when drab, grey February grips us in clammy, foggy fingers, we would change the name to the Hawaiian Islands, and run about in our bare feet with orchids in our hair, getting our pictures taken with Duke Kahanamoku and a hula dancer.

And when we get a little fed up with life in general, and want to get away from it all, we can change the name to Pitcairn until we are ready to rejoin civilization.

The more I think of the idea, the better I like it.

Of course, at this time of the year (as long as the weather holds) we'd be wise to change the name back to Vancouver Island.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Peter Cecil Browning, 244 Simcoe, was fined $25 or five days in jail when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of driving an auto not equipped with 1956 licence plates April 12 on Simcoe Street.

Members of 89 Kinsmen Squadron Air Cadets will parade at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday at 11 a.m. to mark the end of Air Cadet Week.

No special ceremonies were held locally, but annual inspection of the corps will take place at Royal Roads Canadian Services College next month.

Monthly inspection of commanding officer Sgt. Ldr. E. A. McGowan—for both boys and girls of the squadron—will be tonight at 7.30 in RCAF Urban Centre.

Oak Bay council will meet Monday night in special session in an attempt to clean up estimates for 1956 and set the new mill rate.

Reeve Fred E. Norris earlier predicted a 1.4 mill increase this year due to increased school costs. Present rate is 27 mills.

Charge of careless driving brought a fine of $35 or five days in jail for Hollis L. Coffill, HMCS Naden, when he pleaded guilty in city police court today.

Police said Coffill was charged after he was observed driving in an erratic manner on Johnson, April 13.

They said his car veered on the street, mounted a curb and struck a power pole. Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

Hospital authorities reported at noon today that the condition of Doreen Sanders, 4, 236 Cadillac, was still "unchanged."

An earlier report the little girl was "improving" was discredited by officials.

Doreen has been unconscious and critical since receiving head injuries when in collision with a car in front of Centennial United Church on Gorge Road March 18.

Greater Victoria Water District, in a letter to council, refused to accept responsibility for concessions on water rates to Crystal Garden and left the matter in city hands.

The city has already refused, feeling the district as a whole should share in any special dispensations.

Referred to council committee on health was a letter from Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association asking council opinion on whether citizens should have the right to buy or sell raw milk. Recent provincial legislation makes it illegal to buy or sell non-pasteurized milk.

Charge of lighting a fire without a permit brought a fine of $15 or two days in jail for Harry P. Prosser, 976 Inverness, when he appeared in Saanich police court Thursday.

Court was told firemen answered an alarm to that address on April 9 and on arrival found that Prosser was burning rubbish and did not have a permit.

Prosser pleaded guilty to the charge.

Big Ben Laughren will make a third try to swim Juan de Fuca Strait next week if he can find a sponsor to join in an offer of assistance already made by a local business.

He said Thursday navigator Capt. Hugh Evans and Bill Teller would try to plot a course for next week if fine weather supports waning tides in the strait.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1956 21

Artist's drawing shows approved site of world's tallest totem pole.

Architect's Site Chosen for Totem

Victoria city council formally accepted the "world's tallest totem pole" Thursday, and approved a site near Lover's Lane in Beacon Hill Park.

The pole was carved by native artists Mungo and David Martin and Henry Hunt. It is being financed by hundreds of individual shareholders, as a community project instituted by the Times.

The site approved by council was selected by a committee headed by Charles E. Craig, representing the Vancouver Island Chapter of the Architectural Institute of B.C.

The site adjoins a Beacon Hill Park side road which leads from Dallas Road to the cricket pitch. The committee which chose the site took into consideration the natural background provided by trees and shrubs, and the fact the pole will be visible from Dallas Road and the waterfront, as well as many areas in the park itself.

They also had in mind the innumerable photographs which will be taken of the pole. The location is ideal for camera work, they believe.

The subscription list for shareholders will close soon. All shareholders on record will have their names engraved on a scroll which will be buried at the base of the pole.

Shares may be obtained by mail from the Times, or purchased at the main or Broad Street offices.

INDIAN RELIC COLLECTOR GIVEN SHARES

Owner of an internationally famous collection of Indian relics, Sir Alfred Bosom of Whitehall is to be presented with five shares in the world's tallest totem project.

Sir Alfred, who took part in the B.C. gold rush of the 1890s, has one of the best Indian collections of any private collector and is keenly interested in anything pertaining to Indian lore and culture.

The shares were purchased by his long-time friend, Joseph Knight, 2637 Cavendish.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, already a multiple shareholder, today purchased an additional 10 shares. They are being sent to L. Y. Smith, president of the Yokohama Junior Chamber of Commerce.

DISTINGUISHED SALESMAN—Leonard B. Parkin, 1330 Mitchell, Victoria, has received the distinguished salesman award and trophy presented annually by the national sales executive of Vancouver Board of Trade for "outstanding sales performance" during the year. The trophy was presented to Mr. Parkin by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Cecil H. Eve, Air Pioneer Of Island, Dead

Cecil Harold Eve, 65, one of Victoria's earliest private fliers and well-known auto dealer, died Wednesday at Qualicum Beach, where he had lived in retirement for the past 20 years.

Born in London, Eng., he first became interested in flying about 1925, and was one of the first Victorians to use his own aircraft for hunting trips.

He also was interested in B.C. Airways, that operated a Ford trimotor aircraft from Lansdowne field in 1928 between here, Vancouver and Seattle. It ceased operations a few weeks after starting when a crash took 10 lives.

For many years he was associated with his brother, Ernest, in the automobile business, and in the early '30s handled the Graham Paige car.

Surviving are his widow, at home; a son, Douglas, Los Angeles; a daughter, Mrs. S. M. Fawcett, Ottawa; five grandchildren; his brother, Ernest, Victoria, and six other brothers and a sister in England.

Private funeral services will be held Saturday at Hayward's, and will be followed by cremation.

21-Day Term For Motorist

A Victoria man was sentenced to 21 days in jail when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a second impaired driving charge in five months.

Charged with driving on Interurban road while his ability was impaired by alcohol early this morning was Robert Tyre, 2425 Wark.

He also was fined $50 or 10 days in jail on a charge of driving while his driver's licence was suspended. The 10-day default term will run concurrent with the heavier sentence.

Tyre had also been convicted for impaired driving on Nov. 19, 1955.

TO SELL CAR

He told court today he is going to "get rid of my car. I'm going to sell it."

Court was told Tyre was followed by a police car for over a mile at about 12.30 a.m. today. Tyre was driving in an erratic manner, police said.

Also in Saanich court, a first conviction for impaired driving brought a fine of $250 or 20 days in jail for Fred Simpson, 3024 Jackson.

Change of plea from not guilty to guilty was entered on his behalf when he appeared in court today.

Police said the accused was driving south on Patricia Bay highway on April 20 when his car swerved across the road and into a ditch.

Simpson was remanded to May 3 regarding possible licence suspension.

ROOT-A-TOOT-TOOT, BOOM BOOM!

School Bands Raise Arena Roof As B.C. Conference Opens Here

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Memorial arena today could have been likened to a beehive in spring. Endless comings and goings, eruptions of activity, plenty of color and the great barrel roll practically vibrating with sound.

This, to the casual dropper-in, was the general impression of the first day of the B.C. Schools Band and Orchestra Conference.

Most major centres in the province were represented as well as some of the smaller places. Colorful uniforms made bright splashes in the tiers of seats—purple and gold for New Westminister, green and white for Prince George, striking black and gold for North Vancouver.

A solid mass of cherry red caught my eye and I wandered over to discover Kelowna's big band, trim and smart in brand new uniforms they were wearing for the first time.

They were enjoying the conference and Victoria. "This city is so clean, like Kelowna," one of them told me. But Kelowna still rates tops as a city.

Another group that wasn't wearing uniforms, were nevertheless quite distinctive. Summerland had gone shopping Thursday in Victoria and all were wearing remarkable headgear.

The chamber of commerce will be pleased to know that when the Summerland band goes back home, they will be wearing top hats and outside plaid caps—no monocles however!

I noticed some vivid orange pork pies on some students and a white Stetson or two, all purchased here.

Putting your best into a wind instrument at a conference apparently requires plenty of fuel intake. Peanuts, popcorn and large paper bags of lunch were very much in evidence.

FUEL FOR DRUMS

And as for the bass drum! Young Dennis Harvey, Esquimalt High School bass drummer was getting ready for his stint by absorbing two hamburgers and a bag of popcorn at one session.

So much for the lighter side. Out on the floor, bands alternated, playing four pieces each, at the north and south ends of the arena, while band consultant Walter Welke of the University of Washington, made a running comment via tape recorder from a central position.

Some excellent playing was heard during the morning and afternoon and whether the bands were small or large, uniformed or not, the work being done was worthy of considerable praise.

Most students I chatted with this morning were eagerly looking forward to the individual instrumental clinics to be held Saturday at S. J. Willis Junior High.

And all seemed to be convinced they would take home from this third annual conference sponsored by the B.C. Schools Instrumental Teachers' Association, something of real and lasting value.

Films and a dance at S. J. Willis will occupy the visiting students and their hosts tonight, while Saturday night the grand climax will arrive with performances by massed band, individual bands, the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, and HM CS Naden band.

Girls School Horror Claim Denied Here

Health Minister Says Vancouver Report Wrong

Health Minister Eric Martin today offered to open the doors of the Girls' Industrial School in Vancouver to the press.

He made the offer in a flat denial of reports in a Vancouver newspaper that the girls' school is "filthy, verminous," and the scene of uncontrolled perversion.

"I would welcome a visit from the press, particularly those who can compare what it is now with what it was in the past. The entire aspect of the school has been changed," said Mr. Martin.

He blasted the "derogatory" report on the school which appeared in Thursday editions of the Vancouver Sun. The article described the girls' school as "a house of horrors."

Mr. Martin avoided mention of the newspaper, but said:

Sensationalism

"Recent press stories purporting to describe conditions at the Girls' Industrial School are derogatory to school operation—not only because of blatant sensationalism, but more particularly because they describe isolated incidents which occurred over a year ago."

He said the incidents were "dredged up" from the past.

"The facts are that there are no known prostitutes or drug addicts in the school at present."

"The school is clean and definitely not verminous."

"The staff is the best we can get and is being built up; in fact we have advertised nationally for staff for some time."

"The major recommendations of the Schou Report (filed September, 1954) have been or are being implemented."

New School

"Finally, recognizing the physical limitations of the present buildings, the provincial government has given a commitment for a new school, and construction will be well under way this year."

Mr. Martin said tenders for the new school will be called in June.

CCF LEADER HITS DELAY ON NEW SCHOOL

B.C.S. Social Credit government today was accused of "unwarranted delay" in construction of a new girls' industrial school.

Robert Strachan, provincial leader of the CCF party, said the B.C. government announced "a year ago last January, that plans for a new school would be laid before the legislature."

"Some 15 months have now passed, and Mr. Martin, minister of health and welfare) can only say he expects to call tenders in June of this year," said Mr. Strachan.

"This is unwarranted delay," he charged, "and indicates either that the government had no intention of following out its 1955 plans and policies, or that it is unable to handle the job."

He said the present facilities offer no opportunity for segregation, which he described as "the biggest problem of any such institution."

"The most serious aspect of this sensational article is that it contains excerpts from reports which are over a year old, and do not refer to conditions as they exist today," said Mr. Martin.

The health and welfare minister admitted that "in recent weeks, we have had to contend with so-called 'hot rod' youths who have gathered in the vicinity of the school, attempting to establish communication with the inmates."

More Staff

"To meet this problem, we have engaged additional male staff, and are seeking the co-operation of local police to deal with the problem."

"Articles of this nature do serious harm to the operation of the school and the morale of the girls, particularly since they do not represent the facts as they exist, but merely rehash year-old stories, mixed liberally with ill-founded opinion and hearsay," said the minister.

Mr. Martin pointed to the "successful operation of the Brannan Lake School for Boys," to emphasize the importance of adequate facilities to any rehabilitation program.

"We are confident that such will also be the case when the new girls' school is finished," he said.

No Hot-Rodders

The new school will be located in the midst of a 100-acre plot, preventing the hot rodgers from communicating with inmates of the school.

Of charges in the Sun article that staff members have to obtain permission from Victoria to purchase a bar of soap, Mr. Martin said "that is just ridiculous."

He said some of the girls "should never be admitted to such a place," and charged that "magistrates just dump them in."

Mr. Martin said the difficulties faced by staff members of GISCO include the fact that some of the girls are mentally defective, and that from time to time a drug addict is admitted. "Many of them are incorrigible," he said, "and we have no means of segregating the trouble makers from those girls who could be rehabilitated."

'Very Wrong'

Mr. Martin took particular exception to a paragraph in the Sun article which said he had refused requests from the press to tour the school, and that he "had good reasons to hide" shocking conditions from the newspapers.

"That is very wrong," said Mr. Martin.

A Sun reporter at the press conference said he had made a request immediately prior to the recent legislative session, and was given a negative answer.

Mr. Martin said he may have been advised of the request, but that he probably had failed to carry it through.

"Were there some renovations going on at that time?" he asked a member of his staff.

Army Cuts Down on Paper Work

Paper work in today's army is no greater than in private business, Maj.-Gen. M. L. Brennan, adjutant-general of the Canadian army, said at Camp Gordon Head today.

Here to visit Queen's Own Rifles and Esquimalt Garrison, the general dispelled the popular concept that military staffs do more fighting in paper wars than on battlefields.

Administrative techniques have pared to a minimum the mass of clerical work required of unit adjutants and headquarters staffs to keep pace with the stream-lined methods of modern tactical units like the Queen's Own.

The 51-year-old native of Ottawa, now serving his 34th year in the army, said: "There is not any more paper work than in any other comparable business and we are doing all we can to cut it down still further."

"Helping to achieve this end is a tendency toward more and more decentralization during the past two or three years. By this he meant area headquarters and units under them are becoming more dependent on

Strawberries 'n' Melons Are Harbingers of Summer

By PENNY SAVER

I just love strawberries, even if I have to pay 45 cents a basket for them right now. They're California berries, and are the first of the season here. Sweet and tasty, they make me eager for summer to get into full swing. For dessert, they're a real treat, and a little extravagance now and then can't be helped. So long as the sun is shining, we all want to eat summer foods. Watermelon, another sun-time favorite, is 10 cents a pound, and pineapples, just arrived fresh from Hawaii, are 39 cents each. Rhubarb, grown right here on the island, is selling at two bunches for 29 cents.

Salad time is any time, and celery, lettuce, and sweet desert tomatoes are fresh and colorful to dress up your meal-time tables. For 20 cents you buy a head of leafy, crisp lettuce, and a stalk of celery is 25 cents. Tomatoes are 60 cents a pound. New potatoes from California are a sure sign of summer. I'm sure. They're three pounds for 35 cents. Fresh green peas to serve with a sauce, with the potatoes, in salads, or by themselves with a topping of butter, are 20 cents a pound. Tender asparagus that can be adapted to any type of dish is 20 cents for a one-pound bundle, or two for 39 cents.

Sweet yams are 20 cents a pound, and cabbage is 25 cents for three pounds. Green onions and locally grown radishes are 10 cents a bunch, and a package of salad mix, to make preparing dinner even easier, is 15 cents. Broccoli is selling at 27 cents a pound, and local spinach is a penny more, at 28 cents, a globe artichoke is yours for 29 cents.

Look out into your gardens, and if you haven't noticed before, you will now see that everywhere you look there are flowers.

If you can't collect some blooms from your own garden, you can buy them very reasonably at the downtown markets. Daffodils, tulips, iris, and the bright daisies are priced to fit your budget. The brightest on the display today were dorocums, of the daisy family, at 29 cents a bunch.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

9-Day Diet Is Fast Start for Long Range Reducing Plan

As most of my readers know this is 9-Day Reducing Diet Time. For this reason this Friday I am going to give my question box over to questions I am being asked about this diet.

Q. "Can I repeat this diet over and over again?"

A. This is a well-balanced diet but if you have lots of weight to lose you should reduce more slowly. The flabbiness which sometimes follows weight reduction is often due to a too rapid loss of a great many pounds. The skin does not have time to shrink to its new proportions.

If you have a long reducing stretch ahead of you use 9-Day Diet for nine days and then let it be a pattern for planning future meals and count your calories. Keep your daily intake between 1,200 and 1,400 calories a day.

One of my pupils lost 100 pounds in a year's time. She had no flabbiness and no lines. She was faithful about skin lubrication and the use of a body lotion and did facial exercises and general exercises during that year.

Q. "I like very few vegetables but I do like carrots and turnip greens. Can I substitute these for the other similar vegetables?"

A. Yes. It is fortunate that you like two such healthful vegetables.

Q. "Can I have any cocktails or highballs at all during this nine days?"

TODAY'S RECIPE

ORANGE TUNA TULIPS

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 (7-oz.) can flaked tuna, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 tablespoon orange juice, 6 slices fresh white bread, softened butter.

Melt butter and add flour, stirring until well blended. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. When sauce has thickened, stir in the flaked tuna, grated orange rind and orange juice. Heat gently several minutes longer. Spoon into six crisp, golden brown toast cups. Sprinkle a few gratings of orange rind in the centre of each "tulip" for decoration. Serve hot.

To make toast cup, trim the crusts from fresh bread, and butter on one side. Place the slices of bread, buttered sides down, on wax paper and butter the other sides. Carefully press the centres of the slices into medium-sized muffin cups. The corners of the bread should form triangles which peek above the muffin tin. Toast in a moderately slow oven at 325° F. for 20-30 minutes or until the tulip-shaped bread cases are crisp and delicately browned.

IN PROFESSIONS

Business Discrimination and Limited Opportunities Faced by Canada's Women

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal labor department official said Thursday that Canadian firms discriminate against professional women.

Marion Royce, director of the department's women's bureau said before the Commons estimates committee that opportunities for women in the professional field are limited because it is a general policy of business to discriminate against them.

She said less than 15 per cent of the 1,276,000 women in the Canadian labor force are in the professions and three-quarters of these are nurses or teachers.

Miss Royce said she would like to see more women venture into new fields. In the first place, this required "quite a lot of courage" because it was not easy for one or two girls, say, in a big class of men taking engineering. And when they did complete the course opportunities were limited. It was the "general attitude" of Canadian firms not to hire, for instance, women chemists and engineers.

The women's bureau was established less than two years ago. Among other things, it now is conducting a survey of married women in employment.

One-third of women in the labor force are married and the number of working married women increased 308 per cent between 1941 and 1951. The percentage increase effect on family life of married for single women in the same period was nine per cent and for widows 13 per cent.

She said that if the wife makes as much as or more than the husband it usually leads to unhappiness in the home.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Early Pioneers—Life was no bed of roses in the "good old days." Comitas Club members and their guests learned at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Buller, Willard Ireland, provincial archivist, was guest speaker and told of the lives of the early pioneer women in B.C. Starting with Frances Hornby Barkley, the account of the hardships met by Emma Stains, Cecelia Helmcken and Catherine Shubert, among others, pointed out that these early women settlers had fortitude and courage. Mrs. W. Pendray introduced the speaker and he was thanked by Mrs. C. Jordan. Guests were Mrs. J. Pendray, Mrs. H. Bewley, Mrs. K. Wiper and Mrs. D. Cole. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. Tysse and Mrs. W. Pendray. Plans have been completed for the annual tea, this year to be a "recipe tea," in the Douglas Room at the Hudson's Bay on May 5.

Association Tea—Members of Fairfield United Church Women's Association sponsored a spring tea in the church hall recently. Miss E. Hopkins and Mrs. J. Houston convened the affair and floral decorations were arranged by Mrs. A. Schroeder, Mrs. G. Dyson and Mrs. T. Handasyde. Kitchen arrangements were made by Mrs. R. Dorman and Mrs. E. Pearce was in charge of serving. Mrs. Handasyde, Mrs. D. McNeven and Mrs. L. Fox convened tables of woollens, sewing and aprons. Home cooking stall was convened by Mrs. R. Hubbard. Presiding at the tea table were Miss I. Hunter, Mrs. R. Vint, Mrs. E. Haggis and Mrs. F. Hunter. Solos were sung by Mrs. W. Ireland and Mrs. T. Haythorne played piano selections. Over $100 was realized. President, Mrs. H. Carlyle, greeted guests.

Birthday Flowers—Corsages were presented to members who had birthdays in April at a luncheon meeting of Victoria Women's Rotary Auxiliary, held recently in the YWCA. Mrs. Nora Graham, B.C. Electric home economist, was guest speaker and her subject "Do You Blame Your Oven?" Mrs. Rita Love reported that the bonnet tea realized a profit of $180. Plans were completed to sell coffee and home cooking at the Rotary Jackpot Sale on Saturday.

Advocates a Wider Use Of Caesarean Sections

EDMONTON (CP) — An American obstetrician advocates wider use of caesarean sections but says he is dead against "timetable" births induced for the mother's convenience.

Dr. M. Edward Davis of Chicago, chairman of the department of obstetrics and gynaecology at the University of Chicago and chief of service at Chicago Lying-in Hospital, said Wednesday night doctors should not fear the caesarean as dangerous and should learn to recognize where it is warranted and use it.

Caesarean section is birth by incision through the abdomen.

Dr. Davis said he is against "the illustrious individuals in Hollywood" who can't have a baby in the normal manner.

"With timetable babies whose birth is induced for convenience the birth is fraught with danger." The babies may not be large or strong enough to survive.

SHOULD BE AWARE

In an address to the Edmonton Academy of Medicine, held in conjunction with the sectional meeting of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Davis advocated conscious participation by the mother in bearing her child.

He said he does not believe in general anaesthesia and, where necessary, prefers a contiguous spinal anaesthesia. This still allows for awareness of birth by the mother and co-operation by her.

Dr. Davis said the natural method of childbirth is still by far the safest as deaths in caesareans are 2½ times as frequent, although the percentage for either was small.

More than half of caesareans were performed on women who had had caesareans previously. Another large group was women who had "tissue difficulties or poor mechanism."

WOULDN'T HINDER

Dr. Davis said that once a woman had had one caesarean "all subsequent deliveries should be abdominal deliveries.

When in doubt, a doctor should try natural labor for from 12 to 24 hours to determine the adequacy of normal delivery. Then a caesarean should be seriously considered.

The trial labor would not hinder a caesarean but after an adequate trial period, "the longer the labor, the higher the perinatal (during birth) mortality."

The Chicago doctor said that when the child is not in a good position for a natural birth, a doctor should perform a caesarean if the position cannot be changed.

Hotel Endangered By Council Move

Zoning Change Seen Opening Door To Legal Action on Cherry Bank

By PETE LOUDON

A city hotel may be forced out of business through a muddle of neighbor trouble, zoning regulations, indecision by city council and legal manoeuvres.

Caught in the middle is the owner, who apparently bought it in good faith recently, unaware of the impending complications.

At stake are Cherry Bank Hotel, 818 McLure, and the "life savings" of owner F. R. Donnelly.

City council Thursday in a five-three vote moved to take away a "special district" zoning classification granted the hotel earlier last year.

LEGAL ACTION

While the council action permits the hotel to continue in operation, some aldermen think it opens the door to legal action which will eventually cost the hotel its dining-room licence and its provincial liquor licence.

Opposing the continuation of zoning privilege accorded the hotel last year are eight out of 15 neighboring property holders and their legal champion, W. H. M. Haldane, Q.C., and five of the nine-man city council.

They are Mayor Percy Scurlish, who nevertheless admits to being "disturbed that a man bought this in good faith and put his life savings in it," Ald. W. F. Pinfold, Ald. Arthur Dowell, Ald. Austin Curtis and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

Promising to carry the fight for a hotel to a crescendo at the next council meeting, are Ald. Robert Macmillan, Ald. M. H. Mooney and Ald. Geoffrey I. Edgelow. Ald. Don Smith, who also favors the hotel being left in the special classification, is ruled out of discussions due to a personal interest. His firm holds a mortgage.

NOT PASSED

Although council Thursday changed the zoning designation in the 1956 by-law, the by-law is still not passed, but after five years in preparation, it is only inches away from becoming law.

Cherry Bank has been in operation as an apartment hotel for 40 years. Last April, in order to allow sale of meals to the public, council granted the special zoning. But before final passage of the by-law, nearby residents registered opposition, mainly centred against the liquor licence granted earlier by the province.

Mr. Haldane appeared for the complainants and the re-zoning was halted. In September a new attempt was made to obtain re-zoning, a hearing was held and Mr. Haldane appeared again. He filed various documents and letters with council zoning committee for report.

Before any report was made, council, on advice of former mayor C. L. Harrison, passed an amendment to current zoning laws granting the concession.

When a new city zoning by-law was presented at public hearing stage, Mr. Haldane was present again and reopened the battle.

INJUNCTION

He hinted at court proceedings, and opponents to the hotel thought an injunction might be obtained if the hotel becomes a non-conforming use (that is, loses its protective zoning) and can be proven to be a nuisance, out of place in the heart of a residential area.

City solicitor T. P. O'Grady told council Mr. Haldane might be expected also to attempt to prove the enabling legislation of 1955 invalid because the amendment was passed before council had seen the documents which had been referred to committee and never reported on.

If so proved, the hotel would only be able to operate as an apartment house under the new by-law.

SLEEP WELL

It was fear of such action which apparently prompted Ald. Bigelow to tell council after the move to again rezone the hotel, "I hope all the aldermen and the mayor who voted against the hotel will be able to sleep well tonight, when businessmen can come to the city and buy a business and then council can zone him out of business."

A special committee of council had been named to bring in the recommendation which was ultimately acted upon. Chairman of the committee, Ald. Pinfold, said evidence of both sides in the dispute had been confusing, so his committee had polled every property holder within 200 feet of the hotel for an opinion.

Results, given in terms of assessed property values for and against, were 20 to 1 against the hotel operation.

Owners of property worth $2,322,520 opposed and those owning property worth $101,240 stood by the hotel.

However, Ald. Pinfold's figures were drastically altered by two last-minute letters from one of the polled property holders and St. Joseph's Hospital, which said, although they opposed the liquor use at the hotel, there was no objection to the dining room licence.

This changed Ald. Pinfold's findings by the valuation of the hospital, assessed at $2,000,000

4,000 RECORDS SCRUTINIZED

B.C.'s Bad Drivers Being Hunted Out

A special motor vehicle branch team has studied the records of 4,000 B.C. motorists so far this month in a concentrated effort to "weed out" the bad drivers, and bar them from using the roads.

The team has ordered suspension of 163 drivers' licences so far this month.

The accelerated driver education program is the result of a climbing death toll, which has seen 50 B.C. residents lose their lives in traffic accidents in the first three months of 1956.

Repeaters — motorists who continually are involved in accidents—are the object of the driving records search.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the object of the stepped-up checking is "not to harass the bulk of the driving public, but to focus attention on the small number of drivers repeatedly involved in traffic problems."

"Any person involved in a reportable accident can expect to have their record looked over," he said.

Mr. Bonner reviewed the startling damage, accident and death toll on B.C.'s highways and by-ways between Jan. 1, 1952, and Dec. 31, 1955.

"In that period, there were 87,740 accidents; 30,780 were injured, 853 killed, and property damage totalled $29,533,404," said Mr. Bonner.

"With the exception of property damage, our accident experience is the best in Canada," he said, "but it is still a record in which little satisfaction can be taken."

"We want to see a further education, percentage-wise, in accidents and fatalities this year," he said.

How Much Did the Dinosaurs Weigh?
It is no easy job to weigh a dinosaur. We cannot just ask a living dinosaur to step upon the scales. For there are no living dinosaurs. The last of them perished from the earth some 60,000,000 years ago. We know about them from the bones they left buried in the earth. The flesh from these fossil bones has long since decayed and rotted away. However, the experts have been able to estimate the weight of the ancient dinosaurs, even the very big ones.

The Age of Reptiles lasted for 150,000,000 years. During that long time there were countless different kinds of dinosaur. For they changed through the ages. Some died out and different ones developed. All that time, most of the animals in the world were reptiles, stranger than any on earth today. There were bird reptiles, fish reptiles and land reptiles. Some were plant eaters who fed on the lush greenery of those far-off days. Some were meat eaters who fed upon the flesh of other reptiles.

The dinosaurs grew to be the royalty of the reptiles. In the beginning, they were smallish fellows. Some scampered over what is now Connecticut. They looked very much like featherless ostriches. These measured no more than two and a half feet tall. We can guess they weighed only a few pounds. As time went on, the children of the dinosaurs became bigger with each generation. Finally they grew into the biggest land animals that have ever walked on earth.

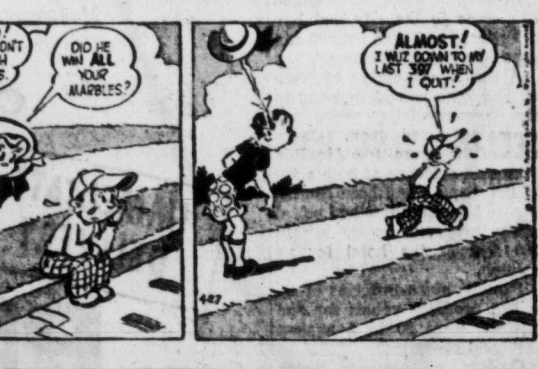

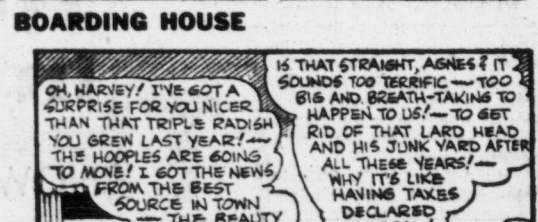

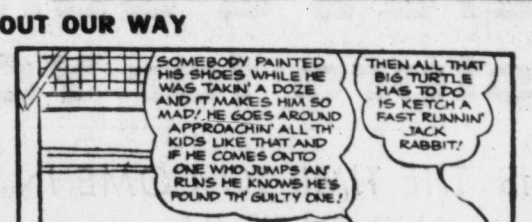

One of these really big fellows has since been named brontosaurus. He lived wherever there were marshes and shallow waters. He was a plant eater and tore up the water weeds with his clawed front feet. For all his size, he was probably a harmless creature. Though he might have trampled smaller animals with his clumsy feet. The huge body of this monster was propped up on four legs as strong as pillars. He had a long and powerful tail. His long, snaky neck ended in a very, very small head. Plenty of the bones of brontosaurus have been found. Some have been fitted together to form skeletons of the ancient monsters. But it needs imagination and knowledge to clothe those skeletons in flesh and skin. This is what makes an estimation of the animal's weight so hard. This monster measured 75 feet from his nose over the hump of his back to the tip of his tail. You would think he could cope with anything. Not at all. For brontosaurus perished from the earth long before the Age of Reptiles came to an end. He was followed by dinosaurs almost as big. Some may have weighed as much or more. Many of these strange looking beasts roamed all over North America.

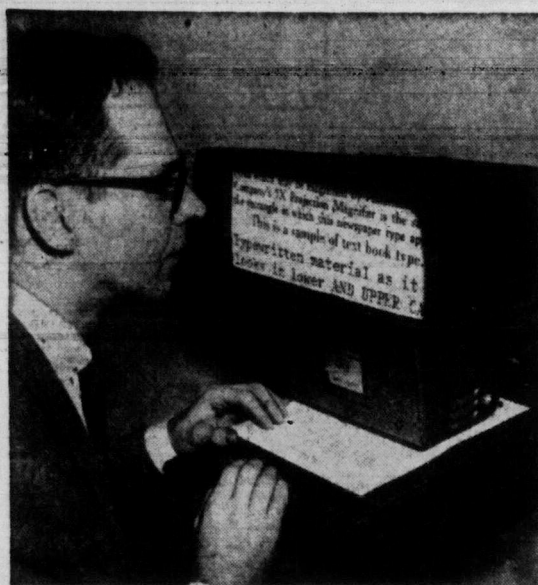

We may guess then, that the largest of the dinosaurs weighed between 30 and 40 tons. The smallest of them may have tipped the scales at pounds and ounces. The number of different dinosaurs that once lived are beyond counting. There must have been dinosaurs of every different weight and size between the two extremes.

Andy sends a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" to Sharon Woyce, age 10, of Owen Sound, Ontario, Canada, for her question:
Where do puff balls come from?
A round puff ball is a plant. It is a relative of the mushroom and the giant of the fungi plant family. True, it does not look much like a plant. It is not green and it has no leaves. But, like most plants, it starts each new generation with a batch of seeds. The seeds of the puff ball are minute grains of dust called spores.

If you kick a puff ball at just the right time, you can see these spores for yourself. They will come streaming out into the air in misty clouds. In fact, that is how the puff ball got its name. Its seeds puff out of the big round puff colored ball in a cloud.

Millions and millions of these tiny spores are set adrift in the air. Some will be carried for miles. Only a few will come to rest in the right kind of rich loamy soil. Maybe only one or two of these spores will be lucky enough to grow into puff balls. And they may start life miles and miles away from the parent puff ball.

What About Polio? Is One Shot Enough?

In view of the possible delay in the Salk polio vaccine program for children, the following questions and answers, as prepared by Dr. Leonard Scheide, surgeon-general of the U.S. public health service, will be of interest to Victoria parents.

Q—Are vaccine shots safe now?
A—Yes. Investigation has revealed no cases of polio that have been caused by any of the tens of millions of doses of vaccine that have been released since the safety tests were revised in May, 1955.

Q—How much protection do they give?
A—Vaccination reduced the risk of paralytic polio last year by an average of at least 75 per cent in spite of the fact that many had only one injection.

Q—Are three shots absolutely necessary? Is one worthwhile?

A—One injection is very worthwhile—it provides a high degree of protection to most children. When sufficient vaccine becomes available, however, it is desirable to have a second injection a month or more after the first, and a third seven months or more after the second. We have suggested withholding third injection until next fall.

Q—Should the vaccine be given during the polio season?
A—Yes. The season during which polio occurs lasts many months and the vaccine causes immunity to begin to build up within 10 days after it is injected in most children.

Q—What should I do if my child is directly exposed to polio?

A—Consult your doctor.

Q—What is the best course to take if my child cannot be given shots before the polio season?

A—Keep him on a healthy regime of rest, exercise and balanced diet. Do not let him get over-tired or chilled. Consult your doctor if he develops a fever, sore throat or other flu-like symptoms.

Victoria voters recently approved expenditure up to $550,000 for the new span, but Mayor Percy Scourrah is confident the cost won't pass the $500,000 mark.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Fall on Stairs Kills Mill Worker

(From The Canadian Press)
NELSON—Theodore Louis Johnson, 22, fell down a flight of stairs in his home at Port Crawford, on Kootenay Lake, early this morning, fractured his skull and died before he could be taken to hospital.

His brother-in-law, Lucien Pratte, heard him fall; about 3 a.m. He died three hours later before he could be removed to hospital at Creston.

GAGLARDI FLIGHT ASKED
NELSON—Highways Minister Gagliardi has been invited to Nelson to make a flying survey of Jumbo Pass as a possible route for the Trans-Canada Highway. The invitation was made by the associated boards of trade and chambers of commerce of southeastern B.C.

FIRING PLEA REJECTED
VANCOUVER—The Vancouver police commission voted unanimously Thursday to refuse to fire Detective John McHardy and returned him to duty with the stolen car detail. The officer asked to be fired because he would get a higher pension than if he resigned. He cited ex-chief Walter H. Mulligan as a precedent.

DROWNED IN CAR MISHAP
KAMLOOPS — Henry Bonthoux, father of six children, was drowned in the South Thompson River near here Thursday when his station wagon ran over the bank. Although there were several witnesses, it took the RCMP and fire department two hours to locate the submerged vehicle.

PLANES FIND LOST MAN
PRINCE GEORGE — Billy Lee, 21-year-old woodworker, missing since Tuesday in swampy wilderness south of Cluteult Lake, has been found safe. He was spotted by two search planes late Wednesday night 35 miles west of here. A ground party reached him shortly after one of the planes dropped emergency rations.

Soviet Worst Off On British Visit

Final Communique Shows Everyone Disappointed, Russians Worried

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
LONDON (AP) — The Anglo-Soviet communique ending the 10-day Bulganin-Khrushchev visit is probably disappointing to everyone concerned, but the Russians appear to have most of the disappointments.

In terms of the modest results of the conferences, Britain can, with considerable justice, claim victory on several counts. The Russians lost a propaganda skirmish and Britain gained at least a temporary breathing spell in the Middle East war of nerves.

In the light of the communique, the Soviet visit can hardly be described as 10 days that shook the world. As such, the communique adds little to what was repeated many times since the birth of the elusive "spirit of Geneva." But at the same time, it does not represent all failure, from the British standpoint and even that of the Western world.

GETTING WORRIED
The joint statement, while loaded with the clichés of diplomacy, still bolsters the general impression that Moscow's leaders are genuinely worried that the world situation might deteriorate into something uncomfortably close to a Third World War.

The communique announces mutual pledges, in broad generalities, to work for lessening of tensions, prevention of nuclear war, halting of the arms race, lessening war risk in the Middle East and for increased trade and cultural contacts between East and West.

There are no specific steps mentioned for achieving these admirable goals—but no specific agreements had been expected anyway. Much depends now upon how much the Russians mean of what they say.

U.K. HOLDS EDGE
The section of the communique dealing with disarmament, for instance, was just words—a repetition of words spoken many times before. But on trade, the British leaders may feel they have made a start toward something concrete.

The Russians laid bare their version of what unrestricted trade, unhampered by the current Western embargo on strategic goods, would mean in terms of hard cash to Britain—an increase in Russian imports of about $2,500,000,000 in the next five years—and suggested a long list of goods, some of which show up on the embargoed list. The question remains whether the Russians are only waving a lure to break Britain away from the United States, or will agree to buy goods not on the strategic list.

The two governments also agreed to expand cultural, scientific and technical contacts, to trade information and publications, and have more visiting back and forth. Again it remains to be seen how far this will be carried out.

Both sides can claim gains, but ISLAND PEAK Mount Misery, 4,314 feet, is the highest peak on St. Christopher in the Leeward Islands of the British West Indies.

Laziest Man Shaves in Bed

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters) — Forty-seven lazy men and four lazy women Thursday got up enough energy to compete in a contest here for the laziest person in Lancashire county. Company director Harold Powell, 66, was awarded the first prize, a deep easy chair. He shaves in bed, and he uses elastic shoelaces so he won't have to tie them. When people are over 50, he told the judges, it is foolish for them to stand up straight, as "it leads to thrombosis." Powell won sleepy nods of approval from the other contestants when he asserted, "The two great evils of the present day are work and worry." Butcher Harold Watson said the chair, of his dreams, would be equipped with a cocktail cabinet, book-shelf, electric shaver, radio, cigaret lighter, air-conditioning and built-in heater.

SET? BET?—NO, 'LET'; CROSSWORD PRIZE $100

Total prize for the Times' popular Crossword Puzzle contest jumps to $100 today since there was no entry with a completely correct solution to last week's puzzle, the first of a new series.

"Let" was the little word that crossed up most crossworders last week. The clue read: "A single — will probably make little difference to a tennis match." Most entries gave the answers "Set" or "Bet" but of course one set can be very important. A "let" on the other hand since it involves neither penalty nor advantage would make little difference.

Complete answer and explanation of last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on Page 33 today.

MARCIANO QUILTS

The world's heavyweight boxing title was left vacant today when reigning champion Rocky Marciano announced his retirement. The "Brockton Blockbuster" who retired undefeated, said he was bowing to the wishes of his family. Marciano said boxing took so much of his time, he had to be introduced to his daughter every time he went home. (See sports page.)

Clouds Dim Chance For Record

Completion of the third consecutive week of rainless days and nights in the Victoria area seemed assured today, as the sun kept control despite encroachment of scattered clouds. This is the 21st day without measurable precipitation. Rainless record for the spring season, set in 1951, was 29 days. Chances of equalling the old record, or setting a new one, dimmed slightly today with a forecast of increasing cloud to tonight and Saturday morning, with showers possible in the morning.

But the sun is expected to burn through the cloud cover by afternoon. The sun shone Thursday for 13.2 hours.

Pearson Calls for Halt In Anti-U.S. Attitudes

World Tension Eased, PM Claims

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said tonight that the visit of Soviet officials to Britain produced results that will allow the world to "rest more securely."

Eden evaluated the 10-day visit by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev in a nation-wide radio and television address a few hours after they left for home. Before they left the Russian leaders said Eden had accepted their invitation to visit Moscow, but the date hasn't yet been fixed.

The British prime minister told his radio-TV audience his talks with the Russians had produced an "encouraging measure" of agreement on more issues than he had expected.

TRADE EXPANSION

In particular, he said Britain can expect stepped-up trade with the Soviet Union to produce a "real improvement in the export market for us." But he added that Britain supports the West's embargo on trade in strategic goods with Russia.

Eden called the Anglo-Soviet meetings here "the beginning of a beginning."

Cabinet Backs Plan to Speed Gasline Start

BY VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Cabinet has "approved in principle" a new proposal for federal financial aid to enable a start this year on construction of the Alberta-Winnipeg sector of Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd.'s all-Canada gasline.

This was revealed today by authoritative sources. Thursday, after a lengthy cabinet study of the plan, Prime Minister St. Laurent said he had no announcement to make. Details of the new plan may be made public next week.

It is believed here the key feature is a short-term "advance" by the federal government. Interest rates and repayment time still are to be decided.

Presumably the western line would revert to the government if the company couldn't pay off the loan within the stipulated time.

LARRY H. McCANCE

Organizer Named for Centennial

Larry H. McCance, Toronto, has been appointed executive secretary of the B.C. Centennial Committee with headquarters in Victoria, committee chairman L. J. Wallace announced today.

There were 52 applicants for the job to co-ordinate the province's celebrations for the centenary year, 1958.

He is due to arrive here May 15. Mr. McCance was born and educated in Vancouver and has been connected with major radio productions with Vancouver stations, as well as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

After the war he joined radio station CJOR and eight years ago moved to Toronto.

Salary for the post is $9,000 and may be increased to $10,000 as work grows during the three-year term.

Kills 2, Suicides

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Police said two employees were shot to death at the Waterloo Spring Company Ltd. plant today by a third man who stalked through the factory about 1 p.m. and then killed himself. Dead are: Donald Huras, 26; Fred Beilstein, 37, and Frank Riem, 35.

Striking uniforms worn by some visiting groups at the Schools Band and Orchestra Conference being held in Victoria, caught attention of local band students. Here Dorothy Gray and Heather Ramsfield of Mount View High School admire the imposing effect of gold-trimmed navy blue uniforms worn by Jack McCarthy and Sheldon Carlson of Rutland. Gordon, Carey To Hang

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice A. M. Manson pronounced the death sentence today on two men convicted of murdering a police constable who was shot down while answering a prowler call.

Joe Gordon, 34, and James Carey, 37, were sentenced to be hanged July 10 for slaying Constable Gordon Sinclair Dec. 7 beneath the Granville street bridge on the outskirts of downtown Vancouver.

Mr. Justice Manson paced the darkened corridors of the court-house while the jury deliberated from 8:47 p. m. Thursday until 12:06 a. m.

Gordon and Carey were convicted on separate charges. Carey, 37, was sentenced to be hanged July 10 for slaying Constable Gordon Sinclair Dec. 7 beneath the Granville street bridge on the outskirts of downtown Vancouver.

CHARGES DENIED

Horton and Lamont, also a police officer, denied her charges. Mrs. Carey said she had her baby with her in a car driven by Smith which was at the scene of the slaying. She said she heard shots and Gordon and Carey ran to the car. Gordon, she said, was shouting, "I shot the guy."

The crown described Gordon as the man who fired the two shots which killed the constable but said Carey, "in carrying out an unlawful purpose with Gordon," was equally guilty.

Bluntly Warns U.S. Link Is Key To West's Defences

MONTREAL (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson appealed to Canadians today to discard anti-United States prejudices, warning that too much criticism and suspicion of American investments and defence works in Canada may dangerously weaken the Western alliance against communism.

In a plainly-worded speech concerning relations with the U. S., Mr. Pearson said the anthem O Canada is something to sing and act on. "But it doesn't mean we have to declare war when an American soldier stands guard over his crashed plane on Canadian soil."

To this apparent reference to the U. S. Globemaster incident where an American officer pulled a revolver on a Canadian news photographer while guarding the crash-landed plane, Mr. Pearson added: "... It is no service to good relations and friendship between our countries or to peace and security generally to whisper or insinuate that every time the Stars and Stripes flies with the Canadian flag at some Arctic base, this is a further step in the U. S. conquest of our country."

Drew's Views 'Dangerous Delusion'

The sudden flare-up of ancient fears that Canada may become the 50th state of the union may have been encouraged by easing of international tensions, but the feeling that it now is safe to relax is a "dangerous delusion," Mr. Pearson said in a 4,000-word speech to Montreal's Canadian Club.

Mr. Pearson apparently was repeating the "50th state of the union" phrase used by Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, when expressing concern over American investment during a Hamilton, Ont., speech last month. There are only 48 states in the union.

This feeling, if persisted in, "would weaken the unity and strength of the free nations which has itself been a main reason for the improvement which has taken place."

The growth of U. S. investment in Canada posed a real problem of control, but that was no excuse for the assertion that the economic and political domination of Canada by the U. S. is imminent, Mr. Pearson said.

"The war of 1812 was fought a long time ago, and '54-'60 now is more impressive as a football signal than as a call to conflict across the border, or even as a personal feud."

Canada, U.S. Co-Operation Vital

Mr. Pearson said Canada recently has been urged to declare its economic independence of the U. S. but it would comfort the "Jeremiahs who predict our new colonialism" that the U. S. is by no means economically independent of Canada.

"The fact is that the economic interdependence of our two countries and indeed of most important trading countries is both inevitable and beneficial."

Canadian per capita investment in the U. S. was almost twice that of American investment in Canada.

Mr. Pearson said he has too much faith in the national pride and patriotism of Canadians and in the common sense of Americans to believe that American investments will make a "banana republic" out of Canada.

Canadian savings did not equal her investment needs. Yet net imports of U. S. capital in 1955 amounted only to about $600,000,000 compared to the record $6,200,000,000 over-all Canadian investment program.

"Unless we wish to slow down or alter the pattern of our development; or unless we save and invest more ourselves, especially in speculative developments — as I hope we will do — this capital investment by our neighbor, far from being unnecessary and dangerous, is of essential importance. ... Let us be neither defeatist nor demagogic in these matters. When the growing need in the free (Continued on Page 2) world is for close co-operation, for mutual trust, for standing together, this is no time for political or economic jingoism."

MUST CONTINUE TO EXPORT

There had been suggestions Canada retain more of her raw materials to turn into finished goods, but export controls on raw materials could do Canada more harm than good. At this stage, Canada should continue to export large quantities of raw materials as essential for employment and prosperity while increasing manufacturing as new markets develop.

Canada's economic structure was strong but it could not have been made so without U.S. venture capital and technical knowledge.

The destiny of the Canadian nation will not be blocked because Canada co-operates closely with her neighbor in continental defence and because U.S. corporations operating under Canadian law, subject to Canadian policies and behaving much like Canadian corporations, are playing an important part in our development.

The remarks were contained in the text of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

Decision Tuesday
Gas Controversy

Judgment in the appeal of three municipalities against a decision of the Public Utilities Commission authorizing the B.C. Electric Co. to distribute natural gas in the Lower Fraser Valley, is expected to be handed down by the British Columbia Court of Appeal next Tuesday.

The court reserved judgment after hearing the arguments of the Corporation of Surrey, Township of Chilliwack and the City of Chilliwack, claiming that the PUC had not the authority to grant gas distribution rights to the B.C. Electric without first obtaining their consent.

The court composed by Justice C. H. O'Halloran, H. I. Bird and J. M. Coady informed the litigants it hoped to render judgment next Tuesday.

Respondent in the appeal was the B.C. Electric, which claimed the Public Utilities Act enabled the PUC to grant a certificate of conveyance to the company without obtaining consent of the municipalities.

EDEN-KHRUSHCHEV TALKS

Britain Spurns
Red Trade Bait

LONDON (UP)—Britain and Russia pledged last night to work for peace in the Middle East and for an easing of East-West tensions.

The five-point communique left unsettled the major cold war issues.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev coupled their 2,000-word statement, signed with Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, with an offer to increase trade with dollar hungry Britain by as much as $2.8 billion over the next five years.

The offer hinged on an easing of export restrictions on strategic goods.

Britain shied from the trade bait and Khrushchev was so disappointed that he accused the British of being mainly herring sellers.

It was the climax to a series of disagreements that left diplomats convinced that the cold war is far from over.

SOME RESULTS

Series of eight formal "little summit" talks and a number of informal conferences produced these results:

1. A pledge that Britain and Russia would do their utmost to maintain peace in the Middle East.

2. An agreement that both nations will work toward an end to the world arms race and seek the ultimate goal of a ban on nuclear weapons.

3. A promise to continue efforts through the United Nations disarmament subcommittee to reduce and control armed forces, beginning with those of the big five.

4. A program to try to increase Anglo-Soviet trade.

5. An announcement of plans for increased cultural and other contacts between Britain and the Soviet Union.

UN FRAMEWORK

Both nations agreed that efforts at easing world tension should take place within the framework of the United Nations to the end that disarmament eventually would become a fact and "thus free the peoples of the world."

HE WAS LET DOWN
—11 FLOORS

NEW YORK (AP)—It was quite a let down Thursday for Stanley Tyrrell when he stepped into an 11th floor elevator shaft and found the car wasn't there.

But Tyrrell, 61-year-old elevator mechanic, managed to grab a cable and slide down it to the main floor.

At a hospital, where he was recuperating from burns of the hand, leg and thigh and back injuries, his condition was described as "very favorable."

"I thought the elevator was wanted to work on was on that floor," he explained.

Kitimat-Terrace Highway Work
Starts This Year Says Bennett

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—Premier Bennett told the Chamber of Commerce here Thursday night that the Kitimat-Terrace highway will be under full construction this year.

The 40-mile link, when completed, will be the first road into this new community, the smelter site of the Aluminum Co. of Canada at the head of Douglas Channel.

Terrace is situated on the northern trans-provincial highway. It now is connected with Kitimat to the south by a rail line, completed more than a year ago by the CNR.

Mr. Bennett said the government would also spend $2,538,238 on other road work in the Skeena riding, which includes the port city of Prince Rupert.

He told a packed schoolhouse meeting later that the government was interested in seeing more northern roads black-topped. He spoke of a "grand circle tour" for tourists leading from the lower mainland, 480 miles north to Prince

George, then 480 miles west to either Kitimat or Prince Rupert and completing the circle by ferry link to Vancouver Island and back to the mainland.

Mr. Bennett also promised he would "cut through any red tape holding up progress of financing by the province" on the new hospital planned for construction here this year.

And he said a provincial building was being planned for Kitimat with negotiations currently under way with Alcan for a site in city centre.

Impaired Driver Kicked Window Out of Police Car; Fine $250

Change of plea from not guilty to one of guilty was entered in Saanich police court Thursday for Kenneth C. Grant, 3420 St. Matthews, charged with being in control of an auto while his ability was impaired by alcohol April 25.

Grant was fined $250 or 20 days in jail on that charge, and an additional $15 or three days on a charge of wilfully damaging a police patrol car.

Police said Grant was found sitting in a car on Union avenue at about 12.30 a.m. April 25. The rear wheels of the car were in a ditch and the horn was blowing.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

There is a great deal to be said for the idea of changing our Island's name.

This statement may surprise constituents who come to accept Between Times as a stodgy, reactionary enemy of progress, and a supporter of the status quo.

But this is one time when I believe the status quo should go, to make room for the manifold advantages of a new name for Vancouver Island.

In fact, I would go farther, and suggest we have several new names for Vancouver Island.

Living in the same old place, year after year, gets mighty monotonous.

Yet moving from one place to another place is such a worrisome chore, most of us are inclined to vegetate and take root in the one place, thus becoming victims of our own inertia, and plagued with a bad case of boredom.

All this could be changed by changing the name of Vancouver Island.

Then, when your friends say, "Are you still living in the same old place?" you can answer, "Heavens, no. I don't live on Vancouver Island now. I live on the Isle of Capri." Your friends will be impressed no end.

To ensure continued variety, Vancouver Island should be given more than one new name. As a starter, we could rename the Island once a year, so the residents of the Island would have a new place to live come New Year's Day.

In addition to the obvious advantages for the residents, the effects of this annual name change would be felt in the world's economy.

Map makers and atlas manufacturers everywhere would be provided with extra revenue, and they, in turn, would have to hire extra workers to keep up with the changes, thus creating employment and staving off depression.

Once the idea of the annual name change has met with universal approval, the next step could be taken.

This would be seasonal changes of name—especially valuable for those of us without the time and money for vacation trips to far away, exotic lands.

For instance, when drab, grey February grips us in clammy, foggy fingers, we would change the name to the Hawaiian Islands, and run about in our bare feet with orchids in our hair, getting our pictures taken with Duke Kahanamoku and a hula dancer.

And when we get a little fed up with life in general, and want to get away from it all, we can change the name to Pitcairn until we are ready to rejoice civilization.

The more I think of the idea, the better I like it.

Of course, at this time of the year (as long as the weather holds) we'd be wise to change the name back to Vancouver Island.

Charge of careless driving brought a fine of $35 or five days in jail for Hollis L. Coffill, HMCS Naden, when he pleaded guilty in city police court today. Police said Coffill was charged after he was observed driving in an erratic manner on Johnson April 13.

They said his car veered on the street, mounted a curb and struck a power pole. Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

Hospital authorities reported at noon today that the condition of Doreen Sanders, 4, 236 Cadillac, was still "unchanged."

An earlier report the little girl was "improving" was discredited by officials.

Doreen has been unconscious and critical since receiving head injuries when in collision with a car in front of Centennial United Church on Gorge Road March 18.

Charge of lighting a fire without a permit brought a fine of $15 or two days in jail for Harry P. Prosser, 976 Inverness, when he appeared in Saanich police court Thursday.

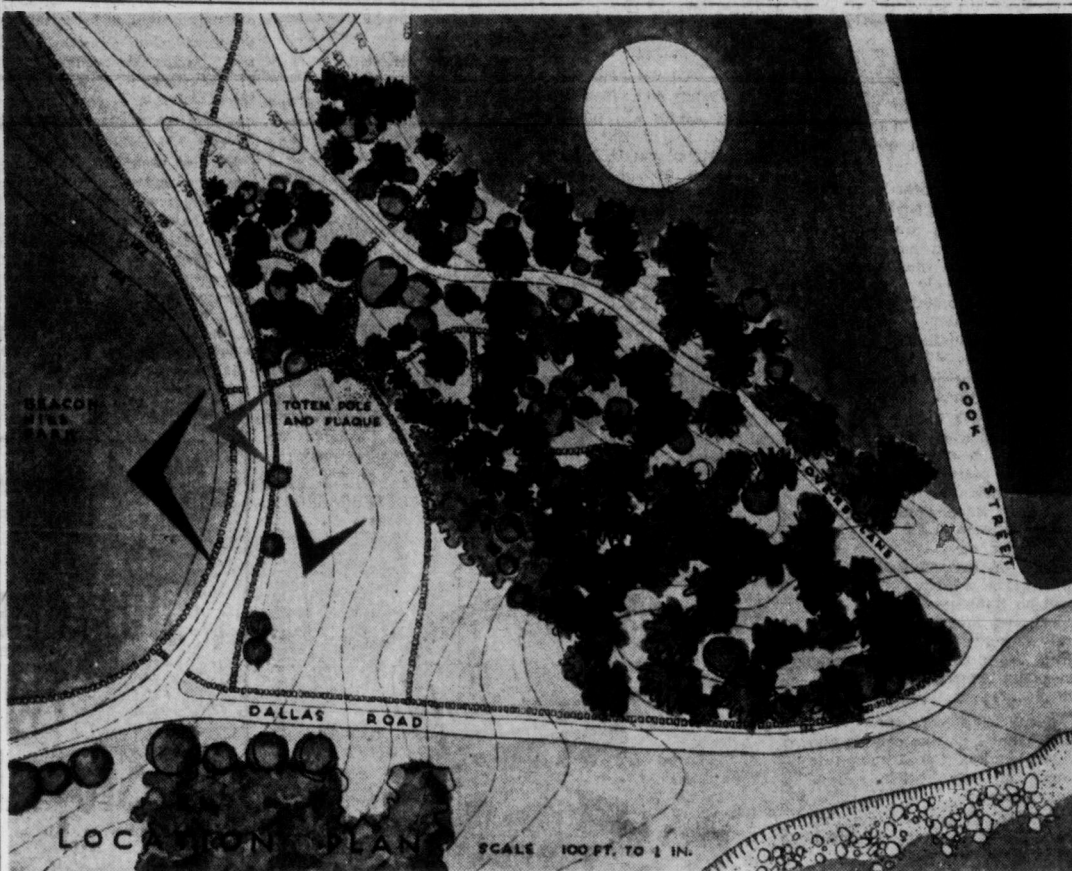

Court was told firemen answered an alarm to that address on April 9 and on arrival found that Prosser was burning rubbish and did not have a permit. Prosser pleaded guilty to the charge.

Architect's Site Chosen for Totem

Victoria city council formally accepted the "world's tallest totem pole" Thursday, and approved a site near Lover's Lane in Beacon Hill Park.

The pole was carved by native artists Mungo and David Martin, and Henry Hunt. It is being financed by hundreds of individual shareholders, as a community project instituted by the Times.

The site approved by council was selected by a committee headed by Charles E. Craig, representing the Vancouver Island Chapter of the Architectural Institute of B.C.

The site adjoins a Beacon Hill Park side road which leads from Dallas Road to the cricket pitch. The committee which chose the site took into consideration the natural background provided by trees and shrubs, and the fact the pole will be visible from Dallas Road and the waterfront, as well as many areas in the park itself.

They also had in mind the innumerable photographs which will be taken of the pole. The location is ideal for camera work, they believe.

The subscription list for shareholders will close soon. All shareholders on record will have their names engraved on a scroll which will be buried at the base of the pole.

Shares may be obtained by mail from the Times, or purchased at the main or Broad Street offices.

INDIAN RELIC COLLECTOR GIVEN SHARES

Owner of an internationally famous collection of Indian relics, Sir Alfred Bosson, of Whitehall is to be presented with five shares in the world's tallest totem project.

Sir Alfred, who took part in the B.C. gold rush of the 1890s, has one of the best Indian collections of any private collector and is keenly interested in anything pertaining to Indian lore and culture.

The shares were purchased by his long-time friend, Joseph Knight, 2657 Cavendish.

Girls School Horror Claim Denied Here

Health Minister Says Vancouver Report Wrong

Health Minister Eric Martin today offered to open the doors of the Girls' Industrial School in Vancouver to the press.

He made the offer in a flat denial of reports in a Vancouver newspaper that the girls' school is "filthy, verminous," and the scene of uncontrolled perversion.

"I would welcome a visit from the press, particularly those who can compare what it is now with what it was in the past. The entire aspect of the school has been changed," said Mr. Martin.

He blasted the "derogatory" report on the school which appeared in Thursday editions of the Vancouver Sun. The article described the girls' school as "a house of horrors."

Mr. Martin avoided mention of the newspaper, but said:

"Some 15 months have now passed, and Mr. Martin (Eric Martin, minister of health and welfare) can only say he expects to call tenders in June of this year," said Mr. Strachan.

"This is unwarranted delay," he charged, "and indicates either that the government had no intention of following out its 1955 plans and policies, or that it is unable to handle the job."

He said the present facilities offer no opportunity for segregation, which he described as "the biggest problem of any such institution."

"The most serious aspect of this sensational article is that it contains excerpts from reports which are over a year old, and do not refer to conditions as they exist today," said Mr. Martin.

The health and welfare minister admitted that "in recent weeks, we have had to contend with so-called 'hot rod' youths who have gathered in the vicinity of the school, attempting to establish communication with the inmates."

"To meet this problem, we have engaged additional male staff, and are seeking the cooperation of local police to deal with the problem."

"Articles of this nature do serious harm to the operation of the school and the morale of the girls, particularly since they do not represent the facts as they exist, but merely rehash year-old stories, mixed liberally with ill-founded opinion and hearsay," said the minister.

Mr. Martin pointed to the "successful operation of the Brannan Lake School for Boys," to emphasize the importance of adequate facilities to any rehabilitation program.

"We are confident that such will also be the case when the new girls school is finished," he said.

No Hot-Rodders

The new school will be located in the midst of a 100-acre plot, preventing the hot rodgers from communicating with inmates of the school.

Of charges in the Sun article that staff members have to obtain permission from Victoria to purchase a bar of soap, Mr. Martin said "that is just ridiculous."

He said some of the girls "should never be admitted to such a place," and charged that "magistrates just dump them in."

Mr. Martin said the difficulties faced by staff members of GISCO include the fact that some of the girls are mentally defective, and that from time to time a drug addict is admitted.

"Many of them are incorrigible," he said, "and we have no means of segregating the trouble makers from those girls who could be rehabilitated."

'Very Wrong'

Mr. Martin took particular exception to a paragraph in the Sun article which said he had refused requests from the press to tour the school, and that he "had good reasons to hide" shocking conditions from the newspapers.

"That is very wrong," said Mr. Martin.

A Sun reporter at the press conference said he had made a request immediately prior to the recent legislative session, and was given a negative answer.

Mr. Martin said he may have been advised of the request, but that he probably had failed to carry it through.

"Where there were some renovations going on at that time," he asked a member of his staff.

CCF LEADER HITS DELAY ON NEW SCHOOL

B.C.S. Social Credit government today was accused of "unwarranted delay" in construction of a new girls' industrial school.

Robert Strachan, provincial leader of the CCF party, said the B.C. government announced "a year ago last January, that plans for a new school would be laid before the legislature."

"Some 15 months have now passed, and Mr. Martin (Eric Martin, minister of health and welfare) can only say he expects to call tenders in June of this year," said Mr. Strachan.

"This is unwarranted delay," he charged, "and indicates either that the government had no intention of following out its 1955 plans and policies, or that it is unable to handle the job."

He said the present facilities offer no opportunity for segregation, which he described as "the biggest problem of any such institution."

School Bands Raise Arena Roof As B.C. Conference Opens Here

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Memorial arena today could have been likened to a beehive in spring. Endless comings and goings, eruptions of activity, plenty of color and the great barrel roof practically vibrating with sound.

This, to the casual dropper-in, was the general impression of the first day of the B.C. Schools Band and Orchestra Conference.

Most major centres in the province were represented as well as some of the smaller places. Colorful uniforms made bright splashes in the tiers of seats—purple and gold for New Westminster, green and white for Prince George, striking black and gold for North Vancouver.

A solid mass of cherry red caught my eye and I wandered over to discover Kelowna's big band, trim and smart in brand new uniforms they were wearing for the first time.

RAISED MONEY

The red coats, worn with grey trousers, had grey shoulder tabs and collars with gold braid edging. Two of the band members told me they had raised the $3,000 for the uniforms themselves, by, amongst other things, distributing fliers for stores having sales.

They were enjoying the conference and Victoria. "This city is so clean, like Kelowna," one of them told me. But Kelowna still rates tops as a city.

Another group that wasn't wearing uniforms, were nevertheless quite distinctive. Summerland had gone shopping Thursday in Victoria and all were wearing remarkable headgear.

The chamber of commerce will be pleased to know that when the Summerland band goes back home, they will be wearing top hats and outdoor plaid caps—no monocles however!

I noticed some vivid orange pork pies on some students and a white Stetson or two, all purchased here.

Putting your best into a wind instrument at a conference apparently requires plenty of fuel intake. Peanuts, popcorn and large paper bags of lunch were very much in evidence.

FUEL FOR DRUMS

And as for the bass drum! Young Dennis Harvey, Esquimalt High School bass drummer was getting ready for his stint by absorbing two hamburgers and a bag of popcorn at one session.

So much for the lighter side. Out on the floor, bands alternated, playing four pieces each at the north and south ends of the arena, while band consultant Walter Welke of the University of Washington, made a running comment via tape recorder from a central position.

Some excellent playing was heard during the morning and afternoon and whether the bands were small or large, uniformed or not, the work being done was worthy of considerable praise.

Most students I chatted with this morning were eagerly looking forward to the individual instrumental clinics to be held Saturday at S. J. Willis Junior High.

And all seemed to be convinced they would take home from this third annual conference sponsored by the B.C. Schools Instrumental Teachers' Association, something of real and lasting value.

Films and a dance at S. J. Willis will occupy the visiting students and their hosts to-night, while Saturday night the grand climax will arrive with performances by "rassied band," individual bands, the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, and HMCS Naden band.

ASK THE TIMES

—Q.—I have been informed that it is against the law to pick the blossoms of the dogwood tree, even if the tree is on one's own property. Is that so?—A.L.F.

A.—Section 3, chapter 98, the Revised Statutes of British Columbia, 1945, reads: "No person shall pick, cut down, dig or pull up, or knowingly injure or destroy in part or in whole, whether in blossom or not, any dogwood or rhododendron on land of any private owner, without the consent of the private owner being first obtained, or on land belonging to the Crown in right of the Province or to a municipality."

Army Cuts Down on Paper Work

Paper work in today's army is no greater than in private business, Maj.-Gen. M. L. Brennan, adjutant-general of the Canadian army, said at Camp Gordon Head today.

Here to visit Queen's Own Rifles and Esquimalt Garrison, the general dispelled the popular concept that military staffs do more fighting in paper works than on battlefields.

Administrative techniques have pared to a minimum the mass of clerical work required of unit adjutants and headquarters staffs to keep pace with streamlined methods of modern tactical units like the Queen's Own.

The 51-year-old native of Ottawa, now serving his 34th year in the army, said: "There is not any more paper work than in any other comparable business and we are doing all we can to cut it down still further. 'Helping to achieve this end is a tendency toward more and more decentralization during the past two or three years.'"

By this he meant area headquarters and units under them are becoming less dependent on army headquarters for attending to their own administration. This conforms with the latest army tactics of dispersal of troops as a defence against nuclear weapons.

A phrase familiar to orderly rooms of old—"Swing the lead and make seven copies of everything"—has become "Use your head and expedite everything."

Gen. Brennan leaves Victoria Saturday to return to Ottawa. He stopped at army establishments in Winnipeg, Shilo, Rivers, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver on his way west.

Strawberries 'n' Melons Are Harbingers of Summer

By PENNY SAVER

I just love strawberries, even if I have to pay 45 cents a basket for them right now. They're California berries, and are the first of the season here. Sweet and tasty, they make me eager for summer to get into full swing. For dessert, they're a real treat, and a little extravagance now and then can't be helped. So long as the sun is shining, we all want to eat summer foods. Watermelon, another sun-time favorite, is 10 cents a pound, and pineapples, just arrived fresh from Hawaii, are 39 cents each. Rhubarb, grown right here on the island, is selling at two bunches for 29 cents.

Salad time is any time, and celery, lettuce, and sweet desert tomatoes are fresh and colorful to dress up your meal-time tables. For 20 cents you buy a head of leafy, crisp lettuce, and a stalk of celery is 25 cents. Tomatoes are 60 cents a pound. New potatoes from California are a sure sign of summer, I'm sure. They're three pounds for 35 cents. Fresh green peas to serve with a sauce, with the potatoes, in salads, or by themselves with a topping of butter, are 20 cents a pound. Tender asparagus that can be adapted to any type of dish is 20 cents for a one-pound bundle, or two for 39 cents.

Sweet yams are 20 cents a pound, and cabbage is 25 cents for three pounds. Green onions and locally grown radishes are 10 cents a bunch, and a package of salad mix, to make preparing dinner even easier, is 15 cents. Broccoli is selling at 27 cents a pound, and local spinach is a penny more, at 28 cents, a globe artichoke is yours for 29 cents.

Look out into your gardens, and if you haven't noticed before, you will now see that everywhere you look there are flowers.

If you can't collect some blooms from your own garden, you can buy them very reasonably at the downtown markets. Daffodils, tulips, iris, and the bright daisies are priced to fit your budget. The brightest on the display today were doro-

On the occasion of their recent 50th wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Westlake were honored when friends gathered for a surprise party at their home on Harriet Road. They were married in Horrabridge Wesleyan Methodist Church in Devonshire, Eng. There are two daughters, Mrs. V. Larson (Alice), Calgary; Mrs. T. W. Duffield (Betty), Victoria, and a son, John Charles Westlake (Jack), Vancouver, also five grandchildren. The honored couple came to Canada and to Calgary in 1919, where Mr. Westlake was employed by the CPR at Ogden shops until his retirement 10 years ago. It was then they came to Victoria to make their home.

Pipe Organ Discussion

At a recent meeting of the Royal Schools of Music Alumni held in Metropolitan United Church, Charles Palmer presented an interesting and informative talk on the mechanics of the pipe organ, explaining and demonstrating the function and uses of various devices. Members were taken on a tour up into the vast pipe cabinet and shown intricacies of the pipes. At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Palmer played a short recital which included "St. Anne Fugue" by Bach, "Andante" by Mozart, "Rhapsody" by Howells and Handel's "Arrival of the Queen of Sheba." Refreshments were later enjoyed at the Princess Mary Restaurant when Miss Mary Adamson, president of the alumni, presented Miss Elsie Friend, the retiring president, with a gift from the group.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

9-Day Diet Is Fast Start for Long Range Reducing Plan

As most of my readers know this is 9-Day Reducing Diet Time. For this reason this Friday I am going to give my question box over to questions I am being asked about this diet.

Q. "Can I repeat this diet over and over again?"

A. This is a well-balanced diet but if you have lots of weight to lose you should reduce more slowly. The flabbiness which sometimes follows weight reduction is often due to a too rapid loss of a great many pounds. The skin does not have time to shrink to its new proportions.

If you have a long reducing stretch ahead of you use 9-Day Diet for nine days and then let it be a pattern for planning future meals and count your calories. Keep your daily intake between 1,200 and 1,400 calories a day.

One of my pupils lost 100 pounds in a year's time. She had no flabbiness and no lines. She was faithful about skin lubrication and the use of a body lotion and did facial exercises and general exercises during that year.

Q. "I like very few vegetables but I do like carrots and turnip greens. Can I substitute these for the other similar vegetables?"

A. Yes. It is fortunate that you like two such healthful vegetables.

Q. "Can I have any cocktails or highballs at all during this nine days?"

ORANGE TUNA TULIPS

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 (7-oz.) can flaked tuna, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 tablespoon orange juice, 6 slices fresh white bread, softened butter.

Melt butter and add flour, stirring until well blended. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. When sauce has thickened, stir in the flaked tuna, grated orange rind and orange juice. Heat gently several minutes longer. Spoon into six crisp, golden brown toast cups. Sprinkle a few gratings of orange rind in the centre of each "tulip" for decoration. Serve hot.

To make toast cups, trim the crusts from fresh bread, and butter on one side. Place the slices of bread, buttered sides down, on wax paper and butter the other sides. Carefully press the centres of the slices into medium-sized muffin cups. The corners of the bread should form triangles which "peek" above the muffin tin. Toast in a moderately slow oven at 325° F. for 20-30 minutes or until the tulip-shaped bread cases are crisp and delicately browned.

A Mother's Day tea is planned for May 9. Nominating committee includes Mrs. D. Macdonald, Mrs. J. P. Bartlett and Frank Parker. Refreshments were served.

'Won't Go Back Until Russia Free'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Four Russian sailors who sought refuge in this country said they would not go back to the Soviet Union "until Russia is free."

Lions Lose Another Star to Rams

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union lost their chance to sign quarterback Billy Wade when he announced Thursday he was returning to the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

It was the second blow in a row at the hands of the Rams who earlier snatched quarterback Rudy Bukich in the face of a two-year Lions' contract.

Communists to Attend CLC Meets

TORONTO (CP)—The newly-formed Canadian Labor Congress today opened the way for Communist delegates to attend its conventions with the unanimous adoption of a revised constitution.

The constitution, however, retained a clause denying any Communist—or Fascist-dominated union affiliation with the 1,000,000-member labor group.

Rocky Crying Wolf, Says Moore

SEATTLE (AP)—"I don't believe it," Archie Moore said today after being notified of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano's announced retirement.

"I think he's crying wolf—just like the little boy who cried wolf three times. Maybe, he's trying to get a little more publicity."

But if the Rock's retirement is bona fide, Moore claimed he is the heir apparent to the crown.

Fake Doctor Gets 18-Month Term

WINNIPEG (CP)—A young American who duped officials at the Misericordia Hospital for a month into believing he was a graduate in medicine was sentenced today to 18 months in jail on four charges of false pretences.

Eugene Leon Morgan, 22, formerly of Garwin, Iowa, pleaded guilty to the charges involving goods and cash totaling $261.

Officials said he performed no operations.

Tax Share Plan
Begins in 1957Strachan Scores Bennett Proposal
As Wrong in Principle, Uncertain

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—Premier Bennett confirmed here that the provincial government's basic exemption on homeowners' taxes will apply to 1957 tax bills.

He termed the exemption a "practical dividend" to the people of B.C. from their natural resources. He announced Monday that legislation will be enacted at the next legislative session to provide a basic exemption of $1,000 or $2,000 on residential property taxes.

Mr. Bennett said details are still being worked out in Victoria, but he added that the exemption will not affect commercial property or anyone owning more than one house. Revenues from natural resources will cover costs.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan served notice today to his party will oppose Premier Bennett's tax relief plan for homeowners.

"This is just another nut and bolt added to the Frankenstein monster of provincial-municipal fiscal relations," Mr. Strachan told a news conference.

"It is wrong in principle,"

Red Visit Helpful
Says EdenWorld Tension
Eased, PM Claims

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said tonight that the visit of Soviet officials to Britain produced results that will allow the world to "rest more securely."

Eden evaluated the 10-day visit by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev in a nationwide radio and television address a few hours after they left for home.

Before they left the Russian leaders said Eden had accepted their invitation to visit Moscow, but the date hasn't yet been fixed.

The British prime minister told his radio-TV audience his talks with the Russians had produced an "encouraging measure" of agreement on more issues than he had expected.

Particular, he said Britain can expect stepped-up trade with the Soviet Union to produce a "real improvement in the export market for us."

But he added that Britain supports the West's embargo on trade in strategic goods with Russia.

VISITING BRASS GETS ENVOIOUS GLANCES

Striking uniforms worn by some visiting groups at the Schools Band and Orchestra Conference being held in Victoria, caught attention of local band students. Here Dorothy Gray and

Pearson Calls for Halt
In Anti-U.S. AttitudesU.S. Key Link to West's Defence
He Says in Broad Appeal to Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson appealed to Canadians today to discard anti-United States prejudices, warning that too much criticism and suspicion of American investments and defence works in Canada may dangerously weaken the Western alliance against communism.

In a plainly-worded speech concerning relations with the U. S., Mr. Pearson said the anthem O Canada is something to sing and act on. "But it doesn't mean we have to declare war when an American soldier stands guard over his crashed plane on Canadian soil."

To this apparent reference to the U. S. Globemaster incident where an American officer pulled a reviewer on a Canadian news photographer while guarding the crash-landed plane, Mr. Pearson added:

"It is no service to good relations and friendship between our countries or to peace and security generally to whisper or insinuate that every time the Stars and Stripes flies with the Canadian flag at some Arctic base, this is a further step in the U. S. conquest of our country."

The sudden flare-up of anti-American sentiment as a call to conflict across the border, or even as a peroration of the union may have been encouraged by easing of international tensions, but the feeling that it now is safe to relax is a "dangerous delusion," Mr. Pearson said in a 4,000-word speech to Montreal's Canadian Club.

Mr. Pearson apparently was repeating the "50th state of the union" phrase used by Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, when expressing concern over American investment during a Hamilton, Ont., speech last month. There are only 48 states in the union.

"This feeling, if persisted in, would weaken the unity and strength of the free nations which has itself been a main reason for the improvement which has taken place."

The growth of U. S. investment in Canada posed a real problem of control, but that was no excuse for the assertion that the economic and political domination of Canada by the U. S. is imminent, Mr. Pearson said.

"The war of 1812 was fought a long time ago, and '54-40' now is more impressive as a football sign."

But the sun is expected to burn through the cloud cover by afternoon.

The sun shone Thursday for 13.2 hours.

Mr. Soccer Recalled LONDON (AP)—England's soccer selectors today recalled old maestro Stanley Matthews for the match against Brazil at Wembley Stadium May 9.

Moore Quits CCF Banner CCF MLA William Moore of Comox will not run under a socialist banner in the next provincial election.

This was confirmed today by CCF leader Robert Strachan, who said he has been notified of Mr. Moore's decision.

His confirmation settled widespread rumors that Mr. Moore, who recently took over operation of a newspaper at Courtenay, was dissatisfied with the party's stand on many issues.

Youthful Murderer
Close to Collapse

TORONTO (BUP)—Robert G. Fitton, 21, was convicted today of the sex-slaying of 13-year-old Linda Lampkin and was sentenced to be hanged July 10.

Fitton, a 21-year-old mail truck driver, is married and the father of two children.

Fitton was pale and nervous when the 12-man jury filed back into the courtroom at about 4 p.m., after retiring at 11:28 a.m.

When the jury foreman announced the verdict "guilty as charged, with murder," and added that the jury recommended clemency, the youthful-looking killer trembled and appeared close to collapse.

The Crown called 43 witnesses to prove Fitton had strangled the school girl Jan. 13 after he picked her up in his mail truck as she was returning home from attending a dancing lesson.

Fitton was arrested the next morning and police obtained a confession which was admitted as evidence during his trial.

In the statement Fitton admitted he had sexual relations with Linda in the back of the truck, but she was a willing participant. He said he had choked the girl with her scarf in a fit of passion, and had not intended to kill the girl.

MARCIANO QUILTS

The world's heavyweight boxing title was left vacant today when reigning champion Rocky Marciano announced his retirement. The "Brockton Blockbuster" who retired undefeated, said he was bowing to the wishes of his family. Marciano said boxing took so much of his time, he had to be introduced to his daughter every time he went home. (See sports page.)

9 Die in Explosion

PULASKI, Va. (UP)—At least nine persons were killed early today when an apartment house in which they were sleeping was blown to bits by a gas explosion. Nine bodies had been removed from the rubble by mid-afternoon. Three or four other persons still were unaccounted for.

SLEW POLICEMAN

2 Vancouver Men
Sentenced to Hang

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice A. M. Manson pronounced the death sentence twice early today as a jury convicted two men of murdering a police constable who was shot down while answering a prowler call.

Joe Gordon, 34, and James Carey, 27, were sentenced to be hanged July 10 for slaying Constable Gordon Sinclair Dec. 7 beneath the Granville street bridge on the outskirts of downtown Vancouver.

Mr. Justice Manson paced the darkened corridors of the courthouse while the jury deliberated from 8:47 p. m. Thursday until 12:06 a. m.

Gordon and Carey were convicted on separate charges. Carey faced his sentence stolidly but Gordon winked broadly at reporters after Mr. Justice Manson delivered the death judgment.

MID BABY FIRST Carey's common-law wife was not in the courtroom at the sentencing. Early in the trial she testified that, through fear, she had hidden her baby before giving evidence.

CHARGES DENIED Horton and Lamont, also a police officer, denied her charges. Mrs. Carey said she had her baby with her in a car driven by Smith which was at the scene the night of the slaying. She said she heard shots and Gordon and Carey ran to the car. Gordon, she said, was shouting, "I shot the guy."

The crown described Gordon as the man who fired the two shots which killed the constable but said Carey, "in carrying out an unlawful purpose with Gordon," was equally guilty.

SET? BET?—NO, 'LET';
CROSSWORD PRIZE $100

Total prize for the Times' popular Crossword Puzzle contest jumps to $100 today since there was no entry with a completely correct solution to last week's puzzle, the first of a new series.

"Let" was the little word that crossed up most crossworders last week. The clue read:

"A single — will probably make little difference to a tennis match." Most entries gave the answers "Set" or "Bet" but of course one set can be very important. A "let" on the other hand since it involves neither penalty nor advantage would make little difference.

Complete answer and explanation of last week's puzzle and a new contest for this week are on Page 33 today.

speech. The times are too serious and the problems are too real for irresponsible exaggeration."

Canada-U.S. problems present a challenge to both countries, but it would be easier to meet that challenge successfully "if we keep a sense of proportion; avoiding excessive touchiness or assertiveness; if we show ourselves to be not only nationally alert but also nationally mature."

North America had to be treated as a single zone for defence. Canada and the U.S. had to co-operate closely for common protection. Therefore Canadians had no more right to be cool and suspicious when that co-operation brings American soldiers or installations to Canada than would be the case when it takes Canadians to France or Germany.

At another point, Mr. Pearson said:

"If we are not careful, we will soon be spending more time in thinking negatively about what the Americans have done or may do to or for us, than in thinking positively about our own plans and policies."

Federal policies in connection with U.S. trade and investment have been criticized in the Commons by the Progressive Conservative and CCF parties.

Mr. Pearson said Canada recently has been urged to declare its economic independence of the U.S. but it would comfort the "Jeremiahs who predict our new colonialism" that the U.S. is by no means economically independent of Canada.

"The fact is that the economic interdependence of our two countries and indeed of most important trading countries is both inevitable and beneficial."

Canadian per capita investment in the U.S. was almost twice that of American investment in Canada.

Mr. Pearson said he has too much faith in the national pride and patriotism of Canadians and in the common sense of Americans to believe that American investments will make a "banana republic" out of Canada.

Canadian savings did not equal her investment needs. Yet imports of U.S. capital in 1955 amounted only to about $600,000,000 compared to the record $6,200,000,000 over-all Canadian investment program.

"Unless we wish to slow down or alter the pattern of our development; or unless we save and invest more ourselves, especially in speculative developments—as I hope we will do—this capital investment by our neighbor, far from being unnecessary and dangerous, is of essential importance."

"Let us be neither defeatist nor demagogic in these matters. When the growing need in the free world is for close co-operation, for mutual trust, for standing together, this is no time for political or economic jingoism."

There had been suggestions Canada retain more of her raw materials to turn into finished goods, but export controls on raw materials could do Canada more harm than good. At this stage, Canada should continue to export large quantities of raw materials as essential for employment and prosperity while increasing manufacturing as new markets develop.

Canada's economic structure was strong but it could not have been made so without U.S. venture capital and technical knowledge.

"The destiny of the Canadian nation will not be blocked because Canada co-operates closely with her neighbor in continental defence and because U.S. corporations operating under Canadian law, subject to Canadian policies and behaving much like Canadian corporations, are playing an important part in our development."

Cabinet Backs Plan to Speed Gasline Start

BY VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Cabinet has "approved in principle" a new proposal for federal financial aid to enable a start this year on construction of the Alberta-Winnipeg sector of Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd.'s all-Canada gasline.

This was revealed today by authoritative sources, Thursday, after a lengthy cabinet study of the plan. Prime Minister St. Laurent said he had no announcement to make.

Details of the new plan may be made public next week.

It is believed here the key feature is a short-term "advance" by the federal government. Interest rates and repayment time still are to be decided.

Presumably the western line would revert to the government if the company couldn't pay off the loan within the stipulated time.

Decision Tuesday In Fraser Valley Gas Controversy

Judgment in the appeal of three municipalities against a decision of Public Utilities Commission authorizing the B.C. Electric Co. to distribute natural gas in the Fraser Valley, is expected to be handed down by the British Columbia Court of Appeal next Tuesday.

The court reserved judgment after hearing the arguments of the Corporation of Surrey, Township of Chilliwack and the City of Chilliwack, claiming that the PUC had not the authority to grant gas distribution rights to the B.C. Electric without first obtaining their consent.

The court composed of Justice C. H. O'Halloran, H. I. Bird and J. M. Coady informed the litigants it hoped to render judgment next Tuesday.

Respondent in the appeal was the B.C. Electric, which claimed the Public Utilities Act enabled the PUC to grant a certificate of conveyance to the company without obtaining consent of the municipalities.

Found guilty were: Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. Ltd., Canadian Steel Corp. Ltd., Steel Company of Canada, Ltd., Frost Steel and Wire Co. Ltd., Lundy Fence Co. Ltd., and New Brunswick Wire Fence Co. Ltd.

Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson adjourned the case to May 22 for sentencing.

Kills 2, Suicides

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Police said two employees were shot to death at the Waterloo Spring Company Ltd. plant today by a third man who stalked through the factory about 1 p.m. and then killed himself. Dead are: Donald Huras, 26; Fred Bellstein, 37, and Frank Riem, 35.

Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson adjourned the case to May 22 for sentencing.

At this stage, Canada should continue to export large quantities of raw materials as essential for employment and prosperity while increasing manufacturing as new markets develop.

toria are still in the dark about the premier's tax relief plan.

"I can't tell you any more than what I've read about it in the papers," said one official. Another said the matter had been discussed "very generally," but that details were a matter for government decision.

Mr. Strachan said the fact Victoria officials know nothing of the plan "is just another indication that we have a one-man government. Anything he feels like, he comes out with."

"He doesn't even bother to find out whether it will work, how much it will cost, who will benefit, and whether it is right in principle."

"This type of thing will only make municipal-provincial relations more involved."

"Mr. Bennett must make it clear whether or not this is going to discriminate against home-owners in unorganized and rural areas," said Mr. Strachan.

"He has given no indication that he is even considering any help to those people."

HE WAS LET DOWN —11 FLOORS

NEW YORK (AP)—It was quite a let down Thursday for Stanley Tyrrell when he stepped into an 11th floor elevator shaft and found the car wasn't there. But Tyrrell, 61-year-old elevator mechanic, managed to grab a cable and slide down it to the main floor.

At a hospital, where he was recuperating from burns of the hand, leg and thigh and back injuries, his condition was described as "very favorable."

"I thought the elevator was wanted to work on was on that floor," he explained.

Kitimat-Terrace Highway Work Starts This Year Says Bennett

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—Premier Bennett told the Chamber of Commerce here Thursday night that the Kitimat-Terrace highway will be under full construction this year.

The 40-mile link, when completed, will be the first road into this new community, the smelter site of the Aluminum Co. of Canada at the head of Douglas Channel.

Terrace is situated on the northern trans-provincial highway. It now is connected with Kitimat to the south by a rail line, completed more than a year ago by the CNR.

Mr. Bennett said the government would also spend $2,558,238 on other road work in the Skeena riding, which includes the port city of Prince Rupert.

He told a packed schoolhouse meeting later that the government was interested in seeing more northern roads black-topped. He spoke of a "grand circle tour" for tourists leading from the lower mainland, 480 miles north to Prince

George, then 480 miles west to either Kitimat or Prince Rupert and completing the circle by ferry link to Vancouver Island and back to the mainland.

Mr. Bennett also promised he would "cut through any red tape holding up progress of financing by the province" on the new hospital planned for construction here this year.

And he said a provincial building was being planned for Kitimat with negotiations currently under way with Alcan for a site in city centre.
